Willis Assails Tobin Bus Veto

Speaker Frederick B. Willis took the floor of the Massachusetts House today to blast Gov. Tobin's veto of a bill giving the Boston Elevated a bus franchise to Logan Airport. Willis spoke at the conclusion of a caucus called by the governor to line up Democratic support of his veto.

The caucus ended after considerable dissension was reported in the ranks of the Democrats over supporting the measure, although Minority Leader John E. Flaherty declared a majority had voted to uphold the veto.

Before Willis surrendered the chair to Rep. John Valentine, majority floor leader, House members predicted the balloting on the veto would be close.

In his opening remarks, Willis declared Republicans had not made a party issue of the legislation as had been charged and then began to take up the Governor's veto message, paragraph by paragraph.

Discussing the governor's assertion the Legislature had delegated authority to the public utilities commission to issue such transportation licenses, Willis said:

"Of course, I don't quarrel with that statement but their decision on this was 3 to 2. Three Democrats against two Republicans. This was strictly a party issue.

"The Public Utilities Commission has disregarded the will of the people of Boston.

"The governor says that no real study has been made regarding the airport transportation service.

Does he want to say the public utilities commission made no study and gave their decision without making any study?

"Of course they made a study and every airline made a study and every airline recommended additional transportation."

The House galleries were packed as Willis began his attack on the veto message with spectators waiting eagerly for the showdown battle which the Governor had indicated would come when he summoned Flaherty to his office shortly before noon and the minority leader later called the party caucus.

Stalin Sweep

LONDON, Feb. 11 (INS)—The London Evening News said today every elector in the Stalin ward of Moscow voted in favor of Premier Joseph Stalin in the election for the supreme Soviet.

TERRITORIES GRANTED RUSSIA AT YALTA—Among agreements arrived at by the United States, Great Britain and Russia at Yalta, in 1945, were the leasing of Port Arthur to Russia as a naval base (1), and the internationalizing of the commercial port of Dairen, the lower half of Sakhalin Island (2) was returned to Russia. The Soviets were also given Kurile Islands (3).

Reds' Yalta Triumph Bared

By JOHN A. REICHMANN

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11 (INS)—The State Department revealed today that the top Yalta agreement giving Soviet rights in Manchuria as well as possession of Sakhalin and the Kurile Islands was the price demanded for Russia entering the Japanese war. These arrangements were disclosed in publication of the Big Three agreement which has been the subject of long and heated debate.

Despite China's absence from the conference, President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Winston Churchill pledged Premier Stalin the return of rights lost in Manchuria when the Japanese took over in 1930.

It also assured the status of outer Mongolia as the Mongolian Peoples' Republic would be preserved.

However, in view of China's absence, the agreement provided that matters affecting China's interest should be regularized in a treaty of "friendship and assistance" between Moscow and Chiang Kai-shek's nationalist government. This was later done.

The document said:

"The leaders of the three great powers—the Soviet Union, the United States of America and Great Britain—have agreed that in two or three months after Germany has surrendered and the war in Europe shall have been terminated the Soviet Union shall enter the war against Japan on the side of the Allies on the condition that:

"1—The status quo in outer Mongolia (the Mongolian People's Republic) shall be preserved:

"2—The former rights of Russia violated by the treacherous attack of Japan in 1904 shall be restored, viz:

"(A)—The southern part of Sakhalin as well as all the islands adjacent to it shall be returned to the Soviet Union,

"(B)—The commercial port of Dairen shall be internationalized, the pre-eminent interests of the Soviet Union in this port being safeguarded and the lease of Port Arthur as a naval base of the USSR restored,

"(C)—The Chinese-Eastern railroad and the South-Manchurian railroad which provides an outlet to Dairen shall be jointly operated by the establishment of a joint Soviet-Chinese company, it being understood that the preeminent interests of the Soviet Union shall be safeguarded and that China shall retain full sovereignty in Manchuria.

"3—The Kurile Islands shall be handed over to the Soviet Union.

"It is understood, that the agreement concerning Outer-Mongolia and the ports and railroads referred to above will require concurrence of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek. The President will take measures in order to obtain this concurrence on advice from Marshal Stalin.

"The heads of the three great powers have agreed that these claims of the Soviet Union shall be unquestionably fulfilled after Japan has been defeated.

"For its part the Soviet Union

2000 Marooned In German Flood

HERFORD, Germany, Feb. 11 (AP)—Floods plagued Germany today. Some 2000 residents of Karnap, near Essen, were marooned in upper stories of their homes when the Emscher canal flooded the city to a depth of 10 feet.

All river traffic was stopped on the Rhine. The bridge at Cologne was closed. The Weser and its tributaries were in full flood in the Hannover area.

Chiang in Shanghai On First Peace Visit

SHANGHAI, Feb. 11 (AP) — Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek landed at Lunghwa airport today on his first visit to this metropolis since the outbreak of the Sino-Japanese war in 1937.

Met by Mme. Chiang, who came to Shanghai earlier, and by Mayor Chien Ta-Chun, thousands of Chinese lined streets along his expected route for a glimpse of their leader, not knowing he had taken another route.

State Acts in Port Strike

Striking warehouse workers and employer representatives met in conference with state officials at the State House today in an effort to settle the city's latest walkout—a strike that shut down 21 waterfront warehouses and threatens business of the port. More than 700 workers walked off the job at 8 a. m. Leaders of both sides were called into conference by Chairman Charles H. Cole of the State Board of Conciliation and arbitration. They first sat with William C. Horneman, a State Industrial Relations adjustor, who reviewed the trouble which began Dec. 1 when the workers asked a 30 per cent wage boost. Employers offered a 10 per cent increase.

Affected immediately by the strike was the movement of wool, fruit, eggs, canned goods, liquor, cigarettes and meats. Ships due to depart today were held up temporarily because food supplies could not be loaded, but the biggest tie-up was expected with the arrival within the next few days of 28 shiploads of wool.

The wool is bound here from Australia, South America and South Africa. Authorities said just two shiploads dumped upon the docks will fill all available wharf space and that further cargoes cannot be landed.

Affected most by the strike are the five plants of the Quincy Market Cold Storage & Warehouse Co., the Wiggins Terminal, Inc., Charlestown; Albany Terminal Stores, Atlas Terminal Storage Co., South Boston, and the Massachusetts Warehouse Co.

Richard Hogan, business agent for the striking union, said the strike already had tied up about 30 per cent of the State's usual warehouse trucking. He said truck drivers would not cross warehouse picket lines.

Meanwhile the first efforts to arbitrate the differences of 4500 Greater Boston truck drivers and their employers began at the State House amid predictions the strike may be called within a few days.

The employers' group is reportedly holding firm in its stand that discussions be limited to wages and contract duration, while the union is said to insist that the issues include changes in hours of shifts and 48 hours pay for 40 hours of work.

Rumors persisted that union officials would order a strike within three days if no progress is made in negotiations. The union's wage scale committee has authority to call a strike at any time.

A union spokesman declared, "If the employers think the arbitrators are going to be limited to decisions on basic wage and security clause issues, some time this week there will be no work done."

160 Billions Income Of U. S. for 1945

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11 (AP) —Income payments to individuals, including those in military service, reached a record high of $160,700,000,000 for 1945, the Commerce Department reported today.

This topped the previous record, set in 1944, by almost $4,000,000,000 and more than double the pre-war 1940 figure of $76,200,000,000, the department said.

He's Hot, Firemen Hotter

Malden firemen, accustomed to being welcome arrivals at fires were abashed today when they answered an alarm for a blaze in a tailor shop at Pleasant and Commercial sts.

They were halted by a man at the door who informed them he did not call them, that he could put out the fire himself and he wanted no part of them.

After a moment's hesitation the firemen brushed past him and extinguished a blaze which had started in a pair of trousers.

Abp. Spellman Off With 2 in Rome Hop

Just before leaving the three prelates chanted the "Itinerarium" in St. Patrick's Cathedral, a supplication for a safe journey. The prayer begins:

"May the Almighty and Merciful Lord direct us in our journey; may He make it prosper and maintain it in peace."

An air of excitement had pervaded the archiepiscopal household in New York this morning as the three churchmen prepared for their epochal trip.

Cardinal-elect Spellman said mass at 7 a. m. in one of the chapels of St. Patrick's Cathedral. Cardinal-elect Glennon, dean of American Catholic bishops, said mass in the same chapel a half-hour later, while Cardinal-elect Tien said mass in a private chapel in Cardinal-elect Spellman's residence.

The churchmen had a quiet breakfast before conducting the "itinerarium" service in the crowded cathedral. Thousands gathered outside the cathedral in Fifth ave. and cheered the prelates as they left for the airport.

The cardinals-elect rode in a 14-car motorcade surrounded by a police escort. Ten motorcycle policemen, their handlebars flying the American and Papal flags, preceded the party. Mayor O'Dwyer rode with the cardinals-elect.

As they left the Cathedral, Paddy Quinn, 75, a handyman at the archbishop's residence for 42 years who knew both Cardinals Hayes and Farley in their time, wiped his eyes and said:

"God be with them!"

Cardinals-designate Edward Mooney of Detroit and Samuel Stritch of Chicago arrived in Shannon, Eire, this afternoon and soon afterward took off for Paris, next stop on their flight to Rome, where they will be elevated to the Sacred College.

Arriving at Shannon airport, the archbishops were welcomed by Prime Minister Eamon de Valera, who went specially from Dublin, said a dispatch.

As they stepped from the huge TWA Constellation, De Valera knelt to kiss their ecclesiastical rings. The premier then exchanged warm handshakes with both Abps. Mooney and Stritch.

The two archbishops arrived in Paris at 3 p. m. said a dispatch late today.

Lake Flying to Rome With New Cardinals

By AUSTEN LAKE

NEW YORK, N. Y., Feb. 11—The plane bearing the first section of Abp. Francis J. Spellman's aerial argosy warmed up for its start from the Marine Base this morning at 8:30, long before the most traveled Catholic since Marco Polo, along with 35 colleagues, began the airborne journey to Rome. Ours is the insignificant half of the 72 persons bound for the most elaborate elevation ceremonies at the Vatican for many centuries.

Austen Lake

Neither Abp. Spellman nor his two equally prominent companions, Most Rev. John Glennon, archbishop of St. Louis, and Most Rev. Thomas Tien, archbishop of China, were present when our four motored Douglas was ready to duck-waddle down the take-off strip. All three cardinals-designate were guests of honor at a Knights of Columbus farewell dinner at the Astor last evening, appearing briefly and retiring early to the gray gothic residence of Abp. Spellman at 50th and Madison, in the rear of St. Patrick's Cathedral.

It was an overcast morning, with a haze screening the distant city. But the attraction of witnessing the prelude to one of the epic flights in air transport history lured a large crowd, predominantly women, which choked the esplanade about the passenger runways.

It was a small preview of the masses assembled to bid "Happy Landing" to the genial humanitarian who is unofficially reckoned as the No. 2 personage of Catholicity, and to his reverend companions and 33 guests — the first occasion in history when such distinguished clergymen have flown to Rome to receive the higest accolade within the power of the Pope to bestow.

We in the preceding plane include six clergymen as overflow of the archbishop's party, 25 news and cameramen, and five lay friends of Abp. Spellman. TWA officials said that if it were mechanically possible there would be several thousand others to make the trip.

Our advance section does not expect to see the Cardinal-designate party till it reaches Rineanna airport near the mouth of the Shannon river early tomorrow morning, approximately at 8 a. m., Irish time.

There will be some uncertainty about this as the Archbishop's plane, a huge Constellation which flies at a cruising speed of 280 to 300 MPH, is much faster than our press plane, which averages about 100 MPH less.

So it is likely we will not hit Rineanna's concrete apron much before the official Irish recep-

Waltham Man Held As AWOL Hermit

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Feb. 11 (AP)—Detective Chief M. A. Hinds reported today the arrest of a man who, he said, related a story of having led a hermit-like existence for three years after absenting himself from the Army without leave.

Chief Hinds, identifying the man as Jack Seaburg, 32, of Waltham, Mass., said he had been held to criminal court on a charge of possessing dangerous weapons.

Seaburg was arrested Feb. 7, Hinds said, when patrolmen confronted him on a Memphis street, carrying a rifle in one hand, a suitcase in the other, and a pistol slung to his belt.

The detective chief said Seaburg was questioned by Shelby County sheriff's deputies as a burglary suspect and by Federal Bureau of Investigation agents regarding his military status.

Hinds said Seaburg told police he had been subsisting in Shelby Forest, a park north of the city, since last September and, before that, had hidden in the Florida everglades.

Don Hostetter, FBI agent, said inquiry was being made into Seaburg's story of having failed to return to Camp Carson, Colorado Springs, Col., while on a three-

Curley Opens New Trial Plea

By FRANK REILLY
Boston American Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11—Arguments for a new trial for Mayor James M. Curley of Boston and two other defendants found guilty on mail fraud charges began at 3 o'clock this afternoon in U. S. District Court before Judge James M. Proctor.

The mayor entered the courtroom with Mrs. Curley and his daughter, Mary Curley Donnelly, followed by Cong. John W. McCormack.

At the outset, Curley's attorney, William E. Leahy asked what procedure was to be followed and when told by the court the defense could procede as it wished he called on Atty. T. Emmett McKenzie to begin arguments. The latter is counsel for James G. Fuller, a co-defendant.

Earlier, Atty. Leahy had intimated the defense would base its argument on admission by the court of the mayor's poor debtor testimony, given previously in a Boston court hearing. It is expected he will contend this admission at the trial was a "prejudicial error."

Fuller, now serving a penitentiary sentence, was in court with a U. S. marshal. The third defendant is Donald Wakefield Smith.

Atty. Leahy began his arguments in behalf of a new trial at 3:45 p. m.

Leahy refused comment on the report that he would ask for reconsideration on the basis of the alleged refusal of several local hotels to house the jury over night because of the inclusion of a Negro in its membership.

The defense will also contend that the presiding justice should not have separated the jurors while they were deliberating their verdict.

3 Million Workers Hit By Phila. Transit Strike

By Associated Press

Automobiles jammed downtown Philadelphia streets and thousands of suburbanites flocked to railroad stations today as a strike of 9655 employes of the Philadelphia Transit Co. paralyzed transit facilities for 3,000,000 daily passengers.

Hosts of policemen were required to handle the tremendous flow of traffic. Residents of outlying areas said it took an hour and a half to drive what was normally a 20-minute trip. Pedestrians clogged sidewalks in the central city area dodging cars to cross streets.

Stalled in picketed carbarns were 3628 trolley cars, buses, subway and elevated trains and trackless trolleys.

The strike began at one minute after midnight, but some of the transit workers headed for carbarns as early as 9 p. m. last night.

BULLETIN

CHICAGO, Feb. 11 (INS)—The national strike strategy committee of the CIO United Packinghouse Workers Union today demanded the government put into effect at once the pay increase of 16 cents an hour recommended by a fact-finding panel. At the same time they "held in abeyance" action on acceptance of the award.

The transit workers belong to the CIO Transport Workers Union and seek a pay raise of 25 cents an hour and other benefits. The company offered a 12-cent increase.

With 1037 taxicabs the only public vehicles left on the streets, emergency systems were improvised to get essential workers to their jobs.

Navy buses assembled to take 25,000 civilian and service personnel to the Philadelphia Navy base and other installations. CIO organized a motor pool to transport hospital workers, federal employes and other essential workers.

In New York striking tugboat workers voted today to return to work and accept arbitration of the dispute that has tied up New York's harbor for the past week.

Arbitration was agreed on by the New York Tugboat Owners Ass'n and leaders of the United Marine Division of the AFL International Longshoremen's Ass'n. Under the arbitration agreement, 3500 tugmen would return to work immediately, any wage agreement resulting from arbitration would be retroactive to Jan. 1, government seizure of the tugboats would be lifted.

Mayor O'Dwyer cautioned, however, that the fuel crisis would continue until coal and fuel oil supplies are built up.

Prospects did not seem so favorable for ending the stoppage of 175,000 CIO United Auto Workers at General Motors Corp. plants. A dispute between GM and employes of its electrical division, members of the CIO United Electrical Workers, was settled Saturday on the basis of an 18½ cents hourly raise.

In Pittsburgh efforts were under way to avert a power strike set to begin at 4 a. m., tomorrow.

CIO Strikers in Page Ad Ask for Old Jobs

BACYRUS, O., Feb. 11 (AP) — Reopening of the strike-bound Crawford Steel Foundry Co. plant was requested today in a full-page newspaper advertisement bearing the names of 132 persons who described themselves as employes.

"We no longer wish to be represented by the CIO," the advertisement read.

The company, employing approximately 200 workers, has a contract with the United Steelworkers of America, which launched a nation-wide strike three weeks ago.

The management said it would give "every consideration" to a formal request to work from a majority of employes.

The advertisement, published in the Bucyrus Telegraph-Forum, asked the company to resume production "as soon as possible" so employes could return to work "under our constitutional right."

"We want to go back to work at once," it read. "We are fully satisfied with our working conditions and our current wages . . .

"We feel it is our constitutional right to work if we so choose, and we feel we are the best judge of our local needs in determining satisfactory wage terms."

A spokesman for the company, informed of the ad, commented:

"We have not seen the ad. If a formal request is made by a majority of our workers to return to work, we most certainly will give it every consideration."

White House Admits Shift Of Top Truman Aides Near

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11 (AP) —The White House said officially for the first time today changes are in prospect in top Administration personnel and indicated announcement of a formula for settling the steel strike was imminent.

Press Secretary Ross told a news conference that personnel changes "are in prospect," but he declined to elaborate.

Asked about a possibility John C. Collet will retire as economic stabilizer and be succeeded by OPA Administrator Chester Bowles with broadened authority over prices, Ross simply said there was nothing official yet on any personnel changes.

"Any possibility of action on that today?" a reporter asked. Ross replied in the affirmative.

At the same time, Ross said:

"When and if a steel settlement is announced, there will be a full explanation of all the mathematics entering into it."

These Days

Government by Veto

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

Copyright, 1946, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

THE ANGLO-RUSSIAN quarrel over Greece has produced on fact which is indicative of the disease that already besets and probably will ultimately kill the UNO. It is a disease called veto. It reduced the UNO from a parliament of man to an exhibition in mulish obduracy.

Veto means "I forbid." It is the process of preventing an act from taking place by an absolute prohibition. It gives to its possessor complete and final authority. It reduces his opponents, no matter how many there may be, to a nullity. It is a rejection of the democratic concept of majority rule.

In history, the veto has been used before and it has always been extremely harmful. Poland is an example of how damaging the veto can be to a state.

In the kingdom of Poland, the veto was established by law in 1652. A single deputy could rise in the Diet and shout "nie pozwalam," and that veto alone could invalidate the decision of all the other members.

There can be no question of the evil this veto wrought. It weakened the nation so that five times now Poland has been partitioned, in spite of the fact that Poland had a longer history and a more brilliant culture than Russia.

THE VETO has often been granted to the chief executive of a country, but in the United States Constitution, the evil of this prerogative is recognized by the provision for Congress to pass a law over the head of the vetoing President.

Whereas, ordinarily, an act requires a majority, after the President has employed the veto, a two-thirds vote is necessary to pass the measure. And it has often been done.

When Mr. Vishinsky threatened to use the veto if the UNO adopted a resolution exonerating British conduct in Greece, he left his colleagues hopeless. This was the first full case before the UNO; its future depended upon its ability to assert its authority for the maintenance of world peace.

The conflict between Great Britain arose from the various secret arrangements at Yalta, where President Roosevelt said there were no secret commitments.

Mr. Roosevelt did not tell the truth. Nor did Churchill. Nor did Stalin. Nor did any of their attendants.

Mr. Byrnes' excuse, for instance, that he did not know about the Kuriles does not hold water. It was his business to know. He should have had the interest and intelligence to know.

If he left before the conference ended, as a responsible official of our government, he should have inquired as to what transpired after he left. The fact is that Yalta was intended to be secret.

BUT THESE secrets could not long be kept secret. They had to come out in actual occurrences.

Imprisonment of the Balkans into spheres of influence is one of those occurrences. The British have assumed that Greece was in their sphere; the Russians have apparently assumed that Greece was to be part of the Bolshevik world to which Roosevelt and Churchill agreed.

Rumania, Jugoslavia, Bulgaria, Northern Iran, Afghanistan, Mongolia, Northern Manchuria, Northern Korea, Saghalien and the Kuriles, as well as parts of Germany, were placed within the Russian sphere.

Greece was to remain free assisted by Great Britain.

The object of Russian ambitions in Greece has nothing to do with Greece. It has everything to do with Egypt and the Suez Canal.

Had the Russians succeeded in bringing Greece within the Bolshevik orbit, they would have done more to destroy the British Empire than Hitler even planned.

Cairo is now the heart of the Moslem world and if the Russians could point a stiletto at that heart, Britain's hegemony over Moslem Asia would disappear.

That was the purpose and one defeat does not end a purpose.

THE RUSSIANS underestimated Ernest Bevin. He is no aristocrat like Roosevelt or Churchill, sitting open-mouthed before the proletarian pasha.

He is a worker, a labor union official, a proletarian himself.

He can give to the Russians as they give to him because he knows them well as enslavers of the workers of all countries.

God is good to England. He provided a Churchill for Dunkirk; He provided a Bevin for Yalta.

Lowell GE Workers Return to Jobs

47 British Brides Unclaimed by GIs

NEW YORK, Feb. 11 (INS)—The case of the unclaimed brides—47 of 'em—had New York Red Cross officials stumped today.

The women, many with babies, were among the group who arrived yesterday on the Queen Mary to join GI husbands. But in their case the 47 husbands could not be located.

Tearful and bewildered, the women milled round the Red Cross chapter house while officials tried desperately, but unsuccessfully, to find the missing men.

Nineteen of the brides were debarked from the Mary last night because their husbands were listed as living in the New York area and were supposed to meet them. Today they were joined by 28 whose husbands could not be found.

The brides wailed in unison:

"What are we going to do? What is to become of us?"

Distraught Red Cross officials could only answer;

"Wait here and maybe you'll get word soon."

Not only the women were disturbed. David Heinly, 26, of Ryersford, Pa., was upset because he met the wrong wife. He had been informed his wife, Rosalind, would arrive on the Queen Mary and he was on hand, though his wife's name is Rosa.

He could not find her, after a sleepless night he reported at Red Cross headquarters to be met by Rosalind and her 11-months-old son, Peter. Said Heinly:

"You are not my wife, that isn't my son and I don't like the name Peter."

Said Rosalind just as emphatically:

"Well, you certainly aren't my husband and I like the name Peter and where is my husband?"

Said the harried Red Cross officials:

"Patience and fortitude."

Another disgruntled husband was Robert Evans, 24, of Lubbock, Tex. He drove to New York in three days after receiving word his wife, Mabel, was sailing on the Queen Mary. He learned, however, Mabel meant the next voyage of the ship.

"Guess I'll go right back to Texas," said Evans.

Clarence Lowery, 22, of Spartanburg, S. C., slept in a shoe shine stand when he couldn't find a room or his wife.

Woodrow Short, 23, of Bristol, Tenn., was relieved of his overcoat and watch by a unromantic thief while he waited for his bride.

Both Lowery and Evans decided it was all worth while today when they finally found their brides

Navy Man Held After Auto Chase

A young Navy lieutenant allegedly led Brookline police a chase through side streets and alleys off Harvard ave., early today after his car crashed a hydrant at Park st., Brookline, breaking it off at the base.

Lt. (jg) John J. Gannon of School st., Brookline, arraigned in Brookline court, was found guilty of driving while under the influence of liquor and leaving the scene of an accident. He had pleaded not guilty and the case was continued until Feb. 13 for disposition.

Gannon, taken in custody by Boston police, later appeared in Roxbury court where he pleaded not guilty to using a car without authority. Hearing was continued to Feb. 15.

Parker River Refuge Killed By House Group

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11 (INS)—The House agriculture committee today favorably reported a bill by Rep. Bates (R.) of Massachusetts which would abolish the Parker River (Mass.) Wildlife Refuge.

The committee vote was 15 to 3, and the bill now goes on the House calendar for consideration by the full body later.

The committee's action came as a surprise at the end of an extended hearing today. It climaxed a fight of a year and a half, during which virtually every public official of the State of Massachusetts had spoken against the project.

The Bates bill not only abolishes the refuge, but would restore any land taken over by the federal government to the former owner.

Curley School Bill Opinion Divided

City and school officials today were sharply divided at a legislative committee hearing on a bill filed by Mayor Curley to give the mayor veto power unless the committee voted unanimously on school appropriations. The present law provides a four to one vote for the school committee to override the mayor's veto.

Rep. David M. Cleary, Charlestown, favored the bill, declaring the school budget has "skyrocketed although the school population has steadily decreased." He said the mayor "deserved such protection."

Lying-In Hospital Foils Baby Sales by Checkup

By PAULINE WARREN

Babies were born to 4700 mothers at Boston Lying-In Hospital last year, an average of one in less than every two hours. The hospital, largest maternity institution in Boston, handles an average of about 100 unmarried mothers each year but thus far has had only one case in which there was a suspicion that money was exchanged in an adoption case. However, Dr. Wilson K. Knowlton, superintendent, is an active supporter of the move to appoint a commission which would study and revise the present loose laws governing adoptions in Massachusetts.

"I am convinced the present adoption laws must be made more stringent," he said.

He can furnish no information of any operation of a black market in babies from the experience of his own hospital.

His assistant superintendent, Miss Frances M. Daggett, R. N., also had no information of any buying or selling of babies and could tell of only one case in the hospital's experience where suspicion was attached to an adoption.

However, since the existing laws permit doctors and lawyers to charge fees for medical or legal service in adoption cases, it was impossible to prove any cash had changed hands for other than professional services and the hospital authorities' suspicions had to remain pure suspicion.

The Lying-In Hospital, however, has instituted elaborate checks to protect itself in cases of unmarried mothers.

"All such potential adoption cases are automatically referred to and handled through our Social Service Dept.," Dr. Knowlton said.

He explained that when a doctor arranged to bring an unmarried patient expecting a child to the Lying-In Hospital, he was required to furnish her true name and other data.

Such information is kept in strictest confidence in the hospital's files, with the social worker assigned to the case being the only one given access to it.

The social worker confers with the expectant mother and discusses with her whatever plans she is making for the future of the child.

In the event the mother wishes to place the child for adoption, the social worker makes arrangements for her to discuss the case with the proper child agency.

If the mother is a Catholic, the Catholic children's bureau is brought into the case. If the mother is Jewish, the case is referred to the Jewish child guidance board. And if the mother is a Protestant, she is recommended to one of several well known agencies, such as the Children's Aid or Children's Friend Societies.

The hospital under no circumstances handles any adoption case itself.

The hospital also makes sure that no adoption case is transacted in its building unless it is being handled by a proper agency.

It receives numerous and often pathetic letters from childless couples, telling of their desire to adopt a baby, particularly some unfortunate born to an unwed mother.

These, however, all are referred to the proper agencies, as well as those letters the hospital receives from mothers who wish to place their children with foster parents.

These strict regulations explain why the hospital can offer no evidence of buying or selling of babies, but the necessity for such elaborate checks indicates the institution is aware of the danger of a baby black market thriving under the present loopholes in the state's adoption laws.

Most such transactions originate, unless properly regulated against, in hospital wards. Unscrupulous dealers in helpless babies prefer to get them for adoption when they are only a few days old as the mothers, upset emotionally, are much easier to persuade to sign adoption releases.

Mothers in Plea For Nurseries

Delegations of mothers, many of them working wives of servicemen joined legislators at a hearing before the committee on education today to appeal for continuation of child care centers, whose support by federal funds will end March 1.

Sen. William Nolen, of Holyoke, asked the committee to approve legislation authorizing cities and towns of the state to appropriate funds for continuing the program.

Sen. Edward C. Pierce, of New Bedford, said many New Bedford mothers must work to reinforce the family budget, since the average take-home pay for a New Bedford working man was $35 weekly.

Mrs. Edgar J. Driscoll, chairman of Greater Boston child care centers of the Community Council, said 50 per cent of mothers leaving children in the nurseries were wives of servicemen.

The legislation also was favored by Arthur C. Hallock, director of the Massachusetts Child Council.

Widow, Boy of 15 Guilty in Holdup

A 23-year-old Roxbury widow and former WAC whose romance with a 15-year-old neighbor came to an abrupt end when both were arrested during a taxicab holdup, today pleaded guilty in Suffolk Superior Court on an indictment charging assault with intent to rob.

Mrs. Margaret Bridges, 23, of Albany st., Roxbury, was given a suspended sentence in the Women's Reformatory and placed on probation for two years.

Officer Paul Erwin told Judge Nelson P. Brown that he was standing outside a Dudley st. restaurant on the night of Jan. 26 when a cab pulled up and the driver, Max Kolhoff of Thorndike st., Brookline, said: "This is a holdup."

Erwin testified he found a "soldier" and Mrs. Bridges in the back seat and arrested them at gunpoint after taking a toy gun away from the "man."

At the station it developed that the "soldier" was Robert Quinn, 15, also of Albany st., Roxbury. Mrs. Bridges told police that Bobby had regaled her with hair-raising tales of his adventures with the "Flying Tigers," and that she was deeply in love with him.

Arraigned in lower court, Quinn was ordered sent to the Boston Psychopathic Hospital for observation.

Heiress Ends Life After Tiff With Mate

NEW YORK, Feb. 11—Fifty sleeping tablets—five of them enough to cause death—were swallowed by Mrs. Josephine C. Benedict Sharpe, 27, socialite heiress to a typewriter fortune, when she committed suicide in the luxurious Fifth ave. mansion of her mother.

Police said today her husband, Dr. J. Douglas Sharpe, who was released from the Army Medical Corps last month, had shown them an empty bottle in a bathroom medicine cabinet which he said had contained at least 50 sleeping tablets.

The suicide came early yesterday after Mrs. Sharpe and her husband had become involved in a bitter quarrel over things "which came up while he was in service."

Dr. Sharpe had left the house to "cool off" shortly after 2 a. m. yesterday and had driven his car to a garage at Third ave. and 73d st.

He walked back to the house and on his way resolved to tell her he was sorry about their quarrel and try to patch things up.

He entered the bedroom and spoke to her, becoming alarmed when he received no answer. He switched on the light and found her unconscious.

"I tried for 45 minutes to revive her," he told police later, "but it was no use."

He said he went to the floor below and awoke his wife's mother, Mrs. Henry Harper Benedict, and then called police.

The couple's young son and daughter, who were sleeping in an adjoining bedroom, were awakened and taken from the house by a servant.

They still are unaware of their mother's death.

Mrs. Sharpe had moved into her mother's luxurious home at Fifth ave. and East 73d st. more than three years ago when Dr. Sharpe entered the Army.

On his return to civilian life last month, the couple had found their readjustment difficult and had quarreled several times.

Saturday night another argument began and late at night, after Mrs. Benedict and the children were asleep, the quarrel became bitter. Finally the doctor left the house.

Mrs. Sharpe was a daughter of the late Henry Harper Benedict, one of the founders of the Remington Typewriter Co.

She and Dr. Sharpe were married in 1938.

2 Held in Theft Of Cambridge Auto

Archibald S. Farnell, 31, of Kimball st., Watertown, and Elmer P. Goss, 46, of Magazine st., Cambridge, pleaded not guilty in East Cambridge District Court today to charges of larceny of three automobiles and altering motor and serial numbers.

Judge Arthur P. Stone continued the case until Feb. 29, holding Goss in $5000 bail and Farnell in bonds of $3000. Police charge the pair took three automobiles from the Capitol Motors Co., Cambridge.

Kramer Denies Safford's Story

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11 (INS)—Navy Capt. A. D. Kramer denied today that he had ever been "worried" about his testimony on Pearl Harbor and that he had ever predicted the surprise attack in advance.

The Navy intelligence officer denied testimony of Capt. L. F. Safford to the effect that he had said on the morning of Dec. 7, 1941, that an intercepted Jap message meant "a surprise attack on Pearl Harbor today and possibly a midnight attack on Manila."

Edwards Coal For Civilians

Gov. Tobin announced today the First Service Command had been ordered to turn over 7500 tons of coal which the Army was holding at Camp Edwards, to be distributed among civilian coal users.

The supply includes 1000 tons of nut, 2500 tons of buckwheat and 4000 tons of egg bituminous.

State Fuel Administrator Edward J. Barry said he was particularly pleased the buckwheat anthracite was available, as this is used in automatic stokers and no substitute can be used.

Churchill Delays Florida Return

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11 (AP)—Winston Churchill today postponed his return to sunny Florida until tomorrow and settled down in the snow-clad British embassy to rest and talk with the Earl of Halifax, his old friend and retiring British ambassador to the United States.

The embassy said Chuchill had no definite plans for the day and no conferences scheduled.

The White House said President Truman's conference with Churchill last night dealt almost wholly with plans for Churchill's speech at Fulton, o., March 5.

Press Secretary Ross said they "did not discuss political matters" and the pending agreement for a loan to Britain was not mentioned.

Urges Ice Sports As Crime Cure

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11 (AP)—Atty. Gen. Clark today urged that youth and welfare organizations sponsor winter and summer sports in the national parks to help curb juvenile delinquency.

Addressing the opening session of the National Volunteer Advisory Panel to study teen-age crimes, Clark said:

"More recreation facilities are needed by the youth of the nation, especially girls. I believe Interior Secy. Ickes would approve a program of organized recreation for youth in both winter and summer in the national parks."

T. R. Kin, Pal Fined $15 Each

Direk Roosevelt, 21, grandson of the late President Theodore Roosevelt, and Patrick F. Bowditch, 20, Harvard students living at Lowel House, were today fined $15 each in East Cambridge court as a resut of a fracas with Anthony Souza, Linwood st., Cambridge.

A complaint of assault with intent to rob Souza was dismissed at the request of police. The defendants pleaded not guilty to the charge of disturbing the peace, but Judge Stone found them guilty.

Judge Stone commented that the youths were not the type to waylay people for the purpose of robbery. He said the men had apparently had several drinks and had acted in a foolish manner in wrestling with Souza.

Souza, under questioning by Atty. Michael Neville, counsel for the students, admitted the two youths had made no attempt to take money or anything else from his person.

High Nazi Testifies Hitler War on Russia 'Criminal'

By GEORGE HERALD

NUERNBERG, Feb. 11 (INS)—Field Marshal Gen. Friedrich von Paulus, whom the Germans sent against Stalingrad, testified today the Nazi aggression upon Russia was a "criminal assault"—and his testimony left his former superiors visibly shaken.

A witness against 22 high-ranking Nazis on trial in Nuernberg, the tall, distinguished general took the oath with an air of obvious tension. Commander of the Sixth Army, captured when the Russians turned the tide at Stalingrad, he told the four-power military tribunal:

"Keitel, Goering and Jodl—netx to Hitler—were responsible for the crime."

As Von Paulus pointed the finger of guilt at them, ex-Reichsmarshal Hermann Goering, former Field Marshal Gen. Wilhelm Keitel and Col. Gen. Alfred Jodl glowered with hate.

Goering shivered visibly and tried hard to control himself, while Jodl and Keitel frowned nervously.

Primary objectives of the assault on Russia, Von Paulus said, were to seize Moscow, Leningrad and the Ukraine, then turn to the northern Caucusus oilfields. Final goal was the Astrakhan-Archangel line.

Paulus said the German military missions to Romania, Hungary and Finland in 1940 were to fix details for the satellites' co-operation in the assault on the U. S. S. R.

He said there was "no defensive measure whatever taken against a possible Russian attack. Plans were purely aggressive."

Police Suppress Cairo Riot News

CAIRO, Feb. 11 (AP)—Police raided the plants of the Wafdist (Nationalist) newspapers Al Misri and Al Wafd El Misri today and seized editions carrying stories concerning turbulent anti-British demonstrations by students over the week-end in which one person was slain and nearly 100 injured.

The students, demanding evacuation of British troops and incorporation of the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan into the Egyptian kingdom, proceeded with plans to defy police orders by holding a funeral procession for a student killed by a police truck during yesterday's rioting.

Caste System In Army Scored

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11 (INS)—Rep. Delacy (D.) of Washington asked the Army and Navy today to appoint a special commission to study methods of making the services "more democratic."

Delacy suggested to Sec. Patterson and Sec. Forrestal the commission be composed of civilians, members of Congress, enlisted personnel and officers.

Delacy said his request was prompted by refusal of two Army enlisted men to accept appointment to West Point.

He said: "Lack of democracy in the armed services was the reason. When two such individuals turn down an education opportunity for which hundreds compete each year because they have seen the Army in operation, learned first hand of its 'caste' system, as they call it, and want no part of it, it is a serious indictment."

100,000,000 Vote In Russia, All Red

MOSCOW, Feb. 11 (AP)—More than 100,000,000 ballots were estimated cast yesterday in Russia's first general election since 1937 as citizens voted for deputies to the Supreme Soviet.

There was only one political party—the Communists. There was only one issue—continuation of leadership by the Communist Party and Stalin, and only one candidate for each position.

Only choice open to the voter was whether to drop his ballot in the box unmarked, which meant he voted for the candidate whose name was printed on it; or mark off the candidate's name, indicating a negative vote.

Beauty! Ruth Muggleboo tells you how to achieve it every day in the Daily Record.

2 Arab States Hit N. Y. as UNO Site

LONDON, Feb. 11 (AP)—Two Arab states, Iraq and Saudi Arabia, served notice today they would fight to the last against New York as United Nations headquarters, objecting to "some political influences" there.

Meanwhile a special committee of the United Nations General Assembly slowly neared the point of voting on a proposal that New York should become temporary headquarters, with a permanent site to be picked from the Westchester-Fairfield Counties region to the northeast.

The Arabians' chief concern, expressed in behind the scenes conversations, was that New York has a large Jewish population. The Arabs and Jews currently are in controversy over Palestine.

BATAVIA, Feb. 11 (AP)—A spokesman for the unrecognized Indonesian Republic said today that yesterday's Dutch offer to establish a Commonwealth of Indonesia in the East Indies is "a starting point for talks and that's all."

The Dutch proposal would establish a commonwealth with a promise that more than 60,000,000 natives would have the right "in our time" to choose between full freedom or partnership in the Dutch kingdom.

tion, headed by Prime Minister Eamon DeValera — a source of same anxiety to us who know the caprices of a wintry North Atlantic and its uncertain storm fronts.

Usually airliners are not equipped with normal air cabins to maintain constant atmospheric comfort at near-ground level density while flying semi-stratospheric heights of 20,000 feet, but the huge new Constellation carrying the Archbishop's retinue is equipped with superchargers which automatically raise and lower cabin pressure, allowing the plane to maintain constant breathing comfort while flying above the weather.

The native Irish, always eager to welcome transient celebrities of national blood, have arranged a stopover program for the archbishop and his companions.

We in the press plane have only the outline information that an official Dublin delegation will take the 72 pilgrims to Limerick and then, by special train, to the postcard picture town of Killarney, where they will spend the night to the undoubted taxation of the lovely hamlet's housing reserve.

It is unpredictable in Killarney at this time of the year—different from the heady, flower-scented summer season when it is the world's Mecca of ease and somnolence.

But even in winter Killarney is warmed by the ocean currents which flow near the coast of Kerry and give it a semi-tropic temperature. So we'll put away the aspirin of doubt and hope the sun will shed some of its warmth on Lough Leane and the rugged hills above McGillicuddy reek.

But if it rains—and how it can rain during Irish winter—it will come down with what the natives call "exaggerated enthusiasm"; in straight sheets hour after hour, drenching the town, splashing straight up from the streets and gurgling in the gutters. Few of our 72 pilgrims included raincoats in our limited baggage.

Yet Archbishop Spellman, whose grandparents came from the Verdant Isle, knows the quick moods of Irish winter. So it is possible he has cautioned his reverend associates, both older than himself, to bring rainproofs and wool insulation.

But wet or dry, it will write a delightful day of pageantry into the quaint town's ancient log. From what this writer knows of Ireland's welcomes, it should be something to witness.

So towards evening the archbishop and his two associates, with a following that may run well toward 100, including Eire's officialdom, will roll back through the golden vale to Limerick, where the wide and placid waters of the Shannon divide the town as by a wide and silvery ribbon.

As an accomplished poet, Archbishop Spellman, whose writings have netted charity a sum estimated at $250,000, has written verse about that.

Here, too, Limerick's townsfolk will desert their workaday grooves and line Prince st., a canyon of Georgian brick houses with gateways and dooryards. For the ancient town has never before seen a cardinal-designate on his way to Rome, and now it will see three.

And so, before nightfall—and night descends not by gradual shades over there in winter, but by whole sudden octaves—we will be back to the flat plain of the Rineanna airfield and scud through the dark over the Curragh and the Wicklow hills on the second leg of a notable journey.

Some three hours later we will be soaring over the phosphorescent pool of light which is Paris—a city the archbishop has not seen since prewar days.

Flying to Rome with Bishop Spellman's party are 11 relatives and outstanding clergy and lay leaders.

Mrs. Arthur S. Pegnam of Whitman and Mrs. George H. Garrity of Abington, both sisters of the cardinal-designate, are included, accompanied by their husbands, together with his two brothers, Dr. John W. Spellman of Brookline and Dr. Martin H. Spellman of Boston.

Another close relative is the Pegnams' daughter, Lt. Mary T. Pegnam, USNR, first WAVE to be granted permission to go to Europe.

Other New Englanders in the party are Most Rev. Louis F. Kelleher, auxiliary bishop of Boston; Rev. Laurence B. Killian of St. Joseph's Church, Woburn; Rev. John J. Starr, pastor of the Church of the Holy Ghost, Whitman; Rev. John J. Kelley of Hartford and Joseph H. Lamb of New Haven, supreme secretary, Knights of Columbus.

Frs. Killian and Kelley were classmates of the bishop at the North American College in Rome.

Dorchester Man Is Held On Cop's Assault Charge

At the request of police of the Fields Corner station, a charge of assault and battery with an auto lodged against Gilbert Griffin, 29, of Mapes st., Dorchester, was continued until Feb. 21 today by Judge William G. Lynch in Dorchester District Court.

Griffin allegedly attempted to run down Patrolman Coleman Joyce in his auto early yesterday after the officer had questioned him in front of a Fields Corner restaurant.

Judge Lynch set bail in the case at $500 despite a plea by former State Sen. Joseph Finnegan, counsel for Griffin, that he be released without bail.

Police declined to comment on the reason for their request for a continuance.

Thomas F. Clements, 59, also of Mapes st., in whose home Griffin was arrested shortly after the alleged attempt to run down the officer, was present in court and said he would seek complaints charging assault and battery and breaking and entering against several police officers.

He charged that his wife was ill at home as a result of the "manhandling" he claimed was given her by police when they came to his home yesterday morning.

The police version of the affair, after Griffin's arrest, was that he and Thomas Clements, Jr., engaged Joyce in an argument after he questioned them outside the restaurant.

As the men started to drive away, police claimed, they allegedly tried to run down the officer and he fired three shots at the car as it sped away.

99 YEARS AGO TODAY

... America's great benefactor, Thomas Alva Edison was born.

In a very real sense, Mr. Edison helped to win the great Victory of 1945 . . . just as in World War 1, as President of the Naval Consulting Board, he contributed his genius to the Victory of 1918.

Through his 1,150 inventions, which included achievements in many fields, from electric lighting, electric generation and distribution to telegraph communication systems, Mr. Edison's vast influence was felt throughout every phase of our recent war effort. The scientific miracles he perfromed during his lifetime became the very instruments by which the United Nations were enabled to defeat the common foe.

Because Mr. Edison is universally thought of as a man of science, his warmly human qualities are sometimes overlooked. Therefore, on the occasion of his birthday, it seems fitting to recall one episode in his life which took place right here in Boston in the early days of electrical generation.

It was in 1882 — three years before Boston Edison Company was organized. The Bijou Theatre had recently been wired and equipped for electric illumination with Mr. Edison's incandescent lamps, the first theatre in the world to be lighted entirely by electricity. The privately owned power plant that supplied the current was located at 603 Washington Street, about 500 feet from the theatre.

On the night of December 11th, a distinguished audience gathered to witness the formal opening at which Gilbert and Sullivan's Iolanthe was to be performed.

The Governor attended with his uniformed staff. Mr. Edison and his assistants were present. All were in evening dress . . . and everything went well until suddenly Mr. Edison noticed that the lights were gradually growing dimmer. He and an associate immediately decided to investigate — and hurried to the power plant. There they found that the engineer had neglected the boiler fire because he had been engaged in the repair of a steam leak.

In the meantime, Mr. Edison's friends at the theatre wondered why he had not returned, so they followed — and found Mr. Edison and his associate in their dress-shirt sleeves, with their tail-coats and silk hats hung on pegs, busy shoveling coal into the fire-box of the boiler. When the steam pipe repairs were finished, they all hastened back to the Bijou where the performance proceeded to a brillant finale.

Lighting by electricity had come to stay . . . and its success had been insured by Thomas A. Edison in person!

MARY McGILVARY, 17, DOG, TRIXIE, ENJOY PET'S BIRTHDAY

Naughty Dog Letter Wins

Even though she chewed up a pair of nylons, Trixie cannot shake the love of her mistress, Miss Mary McGilvary, 17, of Main st., Cambridge, who gave her faithful pet a party today to mark the animal's first birthday.

Miss McGilvary wins today's award of $5 in the Boston Record-American contest "Why I Love My Dog" with this interesting letter:

"When Trixie was six months old she was hit by an automobile. I thought I had lost my best friend but she came out of it okay. Since that time, I have been very careful with her as I would be broken hearted if anything happened to her.

"Like all small dogs she is always getting into something. Although she often gets into trouble, I can truthfully say that everyone in my family loves her. On one occasion she (not knowing how valuable they were) chewed up my sister's only pair of nylons!

"My canine pal is brown and has small laughing eyes. When she is happy she sits with her head tilted as if to say 'Why can't you be happy like me'."

All letters on the subject, "Why I Love My Dog," should be addressed to the Anti-Vivisection Editor, Boston Record-American, 8 Winthrop sq., Boston 6, Mass. The contest is open to all, and these newspapers will award a $5 prize each day for the best letter.

COMMUNISTS AND STRIKES

COMMUNISTS, operating through labor unions which they dominate or influence, are rapidly developing THE GENERAL STRIKE as a destructive means of SUBVERSION and REVOLUTION.

The general strike at Stamford, Conn., and the general strike in New York City were both organized as COMMUNISTIC demonstrations.

Most Americans do not understand this menace to our institutions—to our free industries, our free labor and our free government—because the general strike is NOT an American weapon.

It was imported FROM EUROPE by THE COMMUNISTS.

Proof of its origin and purpose is to be found in the official literature of the Communist Party.

For examples:

Excerpt from the "Constitution and Program of the Communist Party of America"—published by the Communist Party in 1921:

"The Communist Party will keep in the foreground the idea of THE NECESSITY OF VIOLENT REVOLUTION for the destruction of the capitalist state and the establishment of the dictatorship of the proletariat based on Soviet power.

"The Communist Party will systematically and persistently propagate the idea of the inevitability of and necessity for violent revolution, and WILL PREPARE THE WORKERS FOR ARMED INSURRECTION as the only means of overthrowing the capitalist state."

Excerpt from the "Manifesto of the Communist Party of America," published in "The Worker" on Saturday, September 16, 1922:

"We know very well that Capitalism cannot be abolished without THE USE OF FORCE."

Excerpt from an article in "The Communist" (monthly organ of the Communist Party) published in August, 1934:

". . . The general strike does not come like a bolt from the blue. It comes on THE RISING TIDE OF REVOLUTIONARY MASS ACTION (demonstrations, partial strikes, etc.) and AS A RESULT OF THE PERSISTENT PREPARATION WHICH THE COMMUNISTS MUST MAKE."

Excerpt from "Milestones in the History of the Communist Party," by Alex Bittelman, a Communist functionary, published by the Communist Party in 1937:

"It is no accident that the fifteenth anniversary of our party will be celebrated IN A HEIGHTENED REVOLUTIONARY ATMOSPHERE generated by THE GREAT GENERAL STRIKE IN SAN FRANCISCO which was of the nature of a historic vanguard battle in the developing revolutionary counter-offensive of the American proletariat.

"THERE ARE MORE SAN FRANCISCOS TO COME WITH HIGHER REVOLUTIONARY CONSCIOUSNESS AMONG THE MASSES AND WIDER COMMUNIST LEADERSHIP."

BAD SITUATION

REP. DAVID M. CLEARY of Charlestown has asked the Massachusetts Legislature to come to the aid of the children of the Commonwealth.

He wants little girls and boys to have decent homes.

He does not want them to be forced into slum areas.

He thinks the best is none too good for them.

He does not think it right or democratic or even Christian to regard them as nuisances.

Wherefore, Mr. Cleary has proposed that a law be passed making it a punishable offense for any landlord to refuse to rent a house, tenement, apartment or other property to persons because they have children.

He points out that every investigation has shown that programs calculated to limit the size of families are utterly distasteful to the people of Massachusetts and reasons that a landlord is defying the popular wishes when he adopts regulations which amount to compulsory birth control.

Furthermore, he declares, we are spending millions of dollars annually to combat juvenile delinquency and cannot afford to have our efforts nullified by private individuals who are forcing children out of the best residential areas into slums.

The years are coming and going
Whole races are borne to their rest,
But never ceases the passion
That burns within my breast.
Only once more I would see you,
And make you a low salaam,
And with my dying breath, murmur:
"I love you still, Madame!"
—HEINE.

THIS BRINGS to mind that Continental love song of the late 1920s titled "I Kiss Your Hand, Madame." I believe Carl Brisson, now known as "The married women's Sinatra," popularized it . . . My trouble is that sometimes when I pop off I cover too much territory. I recently stated no vegetarian had ever led the National or American Leagues in batting, or been an All-America football player or a boxing champion. A number of clients, demanded stogies be sent them by return mail, point out that Freddie Welsh, lightweight boxing champion of the world from 1914 to 1917, was a vegetarian.

SAYS SHE: "That medical secretary who thinks she has the toughest job because the length of the words doctors dictate can't be very efficient," writes a Manhattan amanuensis. "Each syllable of a medical term has a distinct meaning and once they are mastered there should be no difficulty in spelling the longest words. The secretary with the toughest job is one whose boss instructs her to say he's 'out' to everyone including the mayor, and then raises Cain when she refuses admittance to one of his old school friends. I notice you columnists keep harping on mind-changing as a purely feminine trait. It's a wonder you don't hear from more businessmen's secretaries about this."

VOLUNTEER: A young man of Wheaton, Ill., writes: "I note with interest that a six-foot girl among your readers has expressed a wish to meet a man she can kiss goodnight while standing on her tiptoes. I look a little like Gary Cooper. My height is six feet six inches. I shall be glad to oblige this young woman or any other six- foot girls among your clientele. I consider it a patriotic duty to keep as many of my countrywomen happy as is possible. I shall show no partiality. I shall oblige all tall girls in the order their applications are received, regardless of their degree of beauty or kissability."

Gary Cooper

PASSING BY: Rise Stevens. Of the opera. She is reported to be a very loving wife. Not only that, she has stated she lives up to the "obey" in the marriage ceremony. This seems to prove, if the proper methods are used, it is possible for a husband to control a brown-eyed honey blonde.

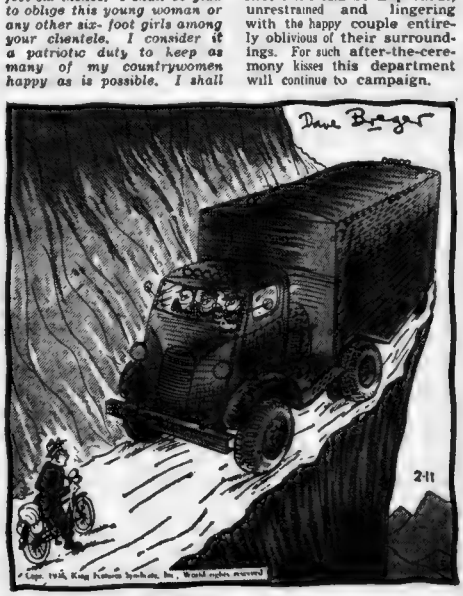
SCOTCH: Scotch whisky is to be made in Peoria, Ill. Experts from Scotland will be employed to supervise its manufacture, following the methods used in the old country. However, Scotch distillers state no Scotch whisky made in a foreign country will ever equal the native product. They say it is the unusual quality of the water of the highlands of Scotland that is the major factor in making the native Scotch whisky what it is today.

NECKTIES: Not content with confining their advice to their own sex, female fashion experts are now expressing strong opinions as to what a man should wear, and how he should wear it to be well-dressed. For example, one woman says: "A necktie should do for a man what a hat does for a woman. It should attract attention, be the right color and pattern and above all be neatly knotted and worn at the right angle. A man's character can be judged by the way he knots his tie, same as a woman's is judged by the length of her slip."

OPPOSITION: In opposing this department's bitter campaign for bigger, longer, lustier after-the-wedding-ceremony kisses, a Chicagoan suggests this type of osculation should be entirely eliminated. Observes she: "The first kiss after marriage should be something wonderful—away from the staring and amused eyes of wedding guests." I am not in agreement with this subscriber. To postpone the first kiss after the wedding, as suggested, is just making a routine out of romance. That first kiss should be impetuous, unrestrained and lingering with the happy couple entirely oblivious of their surroundings. For such after-the-ceremony kisses this department will continue to campaign.



"Now, I'm willin' to be perfeckly fair about it an' toss a coin to see who turns back!"

FAIR ENOUGH

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Copyright, 1946, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

AS THE GREAT fight continues the similarity of the terroristic methods of some unions to those of the Ku Klux Klan of the 1920's and the Brown Shirts of Adolf Hitler becomes more alarming.

Westbrook Pegler

In Chicago, an orderly, respectable citizen, the father of three small children and the owner of his home, is picketed by means of form letters to his neighbors, describing him as a Quisling who is stabbing his fellow workers in the back because he has refused to quit his job. The neighbors are exhorted to persecute him.

According to the dictum of Justice Felix Frankfurter, of the Supreme Court, in a suit known as the Cafeteria Case, this is fair conduct or "give and take," as he called it.

It is, however, all give and no take because the unfortunate individual has no means of fighting back.

His children are smeared and terrorized in the neighborhood and he is called a traitor because that is what Quisling was.

IT WILL BE remembered that the Ku Klux similarly terrorized individuals who were helpless against tricky, cruel and dishonest enemies.

Decent citizens were shunned by their neighbors who bowed to the unseen force and businessmen saw their patronage fall away to nothing under the silent boycott.

In Germany, Hitler, Streicher and the Brown Shirts also persecuted children of the Jews who were told in print and on the radio that their parents were low creatures.

This terrorism of children was the lowest form of persecution in crimes of the Klan and the most despicable crime of Hitlerism until the war and the institution of the great torture camps.

Yet, we find judges airily condoning the formula of all such persecution in flippant observations that a union has a right to call a loyal American citizen a Fascist, even though there is not the slightest ground for calling him a Fascist.

If it is fair to lie about a man and smear and terrify his children in a dispute between a union and an unoffending victim, if it is fair as he held, to organize a boycott and even to resort to absolutely false statements about him, then, obviously, such judges are inviting other malignant organizations to terrorize and boycott Americans because of prejudices.

Unions have no written or implied monopoly on the power of persecution.

PRINCIPAL WEAPON of the Ku Klux and of the Brown Shirts in Germany was the power of the boycott. Judges, nevertheless, have held that the boycott is a legal and a reasonable weapon even though it is based on absolute, admitted lies against the victims.

No protest against this dictum ever was heard from that side of the great American controversy which calls itself the liberal and progressive element.

In actual fact, some of it is a terroristic, totalitarian element which recently, again, has been using mob power to prevent law-abiding Americans from going to their work. Groups have even picketed the homes of individuals, far from any factory under strike, and by logical extension, may picket churches and synagogues and beat up the faithful on their way to worship.

THE COIN FELL with the other side up when Senator Bilbo, of Mississippi, in reply to a New York woman who had written him an offensive letter, addressed her insultingly and Congressman Rankin, also of Mississippi, goaded to anger by attacks on his character, replied to one who had villified him with a word that is generally excluded from the respectable American daily press.

If the unioneers in the Cafeteria Case were right in calling their victim a Fascist, if the union in Chicago is right in calling a decent citizen a Quisling and inciting his neighbors to persecute him, then by the judicial reasoning, Bilbo and Rankin would also be right and the totalitarian liberals and progressives, far from abusing them, should uphold them.

Bilbo and Rankin are appealing to prejudice and arousing hatred, but it is no worse to despise and abuse a man because of his race or religion than to persecute him for his political beliefs or his resistance to coercion.

THESE SINISTER, menacing conditions, all inviting the most savage cruelties against the weak and unoffending individuals, have been created knowingly by women and men who nevertheless have the effrontery to prate of "minority rights" and organize leagues against defamation.

Hollywood Today

By Louella O. Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 11—All the chit-chat about Robert Donat's coming to Hollywood to make a picture might as well be forgotten, at least for the time being. Director Adrian Scott, who leaves with Anne Shirley for England very soon, has Donat signed for his first English RKO picture.

I was very much interested to hear that Scott will make "So Well Remembered," the James Hilton novel, in the authentic locale. Anne goes along to do an acting job while her husband is busy directing.

Robert Donat

There has been a scramble for Donat ever since "Vacation from Marriage" was released here. He is sooooo good in this charming comedy, that naturally, Scott couldn't be happier that he is to get the popular English actor for "So Well Remembered."

THERE'S MUCH more television activity going on in Hollywood than meets the eye, and very much on the Q.T. My old friend, Sam Goldwyn, is out in front. Sam has obtained from General Electric engineers figures on the cost and operation of a television station to be run in conjunction with his studio. Now hold on—the original outlay would be $350,000 for a station, with a similar amount spent annually for maintenance and staff salaries! At the present time there are 17 applications in Washington for licenses from this area alone. But only seven applications will be granted. In addition to Sam, Walt Disney will get a license for a station and MGM is also well up in the running.

BETTY HUTTON has good reason to be cheering that Paramount has made a deal with Frank Loesser, noted song writer, to furnish the words and music for two movies a year, because one of them will be "The Perils of Pauline," the Hutton version of Pearl White's life. Frank wrote "Murder, He Says," Betty's best known number, and while he was in uniform composed "Praise the Lord and Pass the Ammunition." The Loesser songs familiar to everyone are "Jingle, Jangle, Jingle," "I Don't Want to Walk Without You, Baby" and many others. The Paramount deal also calls for publication of Loesser songs.

UNDERSTAND BOTH Dorothy Stickney and Howard Lindsay have withdrawn as possibilities for "Life With Father." Rusel Crouse telegraphs and says he feels it is unfair to them to say there are any politics. Well, all I can say is I do not print things without first investigating and this came from not one, but from three people concerned with the making of the picture. However, Rusel is one of my oldest friends and I am sorry if he's upset. But there's one thing to remember—that Hollywood is a small town and gossip travels fast. I have been writing about pictures a long time and don't think I ever remember a picture that caused so much of an upheaval. If I have done Mr. Lindsay and Miss Stickney an injustice, I am sorry, but have to stick to my guns.

"You don't have to agree with me—just admit that I'm right!"

CHATTER IN HOLLYWOOD: It may be a long, long time before Bill Cagney and his estranged wife, Boots Mallory, get to the divorce courts, although there's not a chance of their getting together again. The hitch is the property settlement. Under California community property law Boots' share would include half of Bill's interest in the Cagney productions (Jimmy Cagney's pictures) and that is a little concession Bill is not willing to make. But her lawyer isn't giving an inch.

LARAINE DAY has put in a big bid for her freedom from MGM. She's trying to get her release, she says, because she feels she doesn't get the pictures she'd like. "I have been at MGM seven years," she said, "and loaned to other studios where I've gotten my good breaks. But when MGM has a picture I could play, they give the part to someone else." This is surprising, because I believe it is almost the first time I've heard anyone wanting to get away from Leo the Lion. I have heard of people wanting to get in but not away.

JANE WITHERS' boy friend, A. C. Lyles, has turned her agent, and with good results. A. C. took his "heart" (all of it—not just 10 per cent) to be interviewed by Bill Thomas. Jane's new personality was very much on exhibit and I mean by that she's not a little girl type but much more grown up and sophisticated. The result is she gets a straight dramatic part with no singing and dancing but just straight emoting playing a 25-year-old woman in "Danger Street." I suppose that comes under the head of a characterization—since Jane is barely 20 herself.

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD COLLECTED AT RANDOM: Frances Rafferty, who was recently divorced from John Horton of the air force, has her next groom picked out. He's Bob Stanton, Dick Haymes' brother; the Walter Slezaks have another date with the stork; Gwen Anderson, the ex-Mrs. Helmut Dantine, has gone to New York with her husband Eddie Chodorov, to remain until after birth of her baby; Helen Walker and Ralph Lewis will very soon make an interesting announcement; Joe Glaston, press agent for Abbott and Costello, is the first Hollywooder to get his divorce decision upheld by the United States Supreme Court. He got his divorce two years ago in Los Angeles and it has gone through all the courts.

MGM IS DOING a rewrite job on "Lucky Baldwin" to see if they can please Clark Gable. Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ford II arrive here Valentine's Day and will be guests of honor at a dinner party. The same day the Donald Nelsons are giving a cocktail party. Lots of parties in our town. Among them is the one Joan Fontaine is giving at Romanoff's for 100 people. Angela Greene and Stuart Martin, brother of socialite Spencer Martin, are aflame. The Spencer Martin-Martha Kemp romance is all over and she will marry St. Clair Kelway as soon as he gets his divorce. He's already in Las Vegas; Natalie Thompson, the ex-Mrs. Bob Hutton has been seen at New York night spots with Bill Paley; Ted Fetzlaff, well known cameraman, has plans to wed Blanche Smith, Hedy Lamarr's hairdresser. That's all for today.

NEW YORK, Feb. 11—Hollywood's Chamber of Commerce can't do a thing with Hedy Lamarr. She always carries a pair of knee-length, patent leather boots and a raincoat in her car, just in case the mist comes down in heavy drops. And although she is the epitome of chiffon seductiveness on the screen, she's strictly the saddle shoes, bandana and shirt schnozz type around her neighborhood . . . Cary Grant seldom dines out in public. He can afford the high tariff at the sup-and-stare places, but he's a regular 85-cent lunch eater at the Actor's Club, the Masquers . . . No one ever gets really angry at Betty Hutton, but she carries five one-hundred dollar bills in her purse—her idea of mad money . . . Maureen O'Hara spends half an hour each day in Baldy Rubin's market buying her vegetables. It's an old Irish custom, she says, for the housewife to pick her own . . . Paul Stewart, the New York actor who is now a picture director, owns moviedom's tiniest limousine, a yellow midget—and that's a chunk of midgeting. He's been offered double what he paid for it, but he won't sell.

Maureen O'Hara

DOROTHY LAMOUR'S attractive husband, William Ross Howard III, is given to noisy appreciation of anything humorous, and his trick laugh—hearty and in a class by itself—would sweep the nation overnight if he were a radio comedian . . . Betty Grable's beautiful head scarves match the wonderful scenery. But when she drives in an open roadster and you see the piece of silk pennanting against the wind, it gives you the shudders, recalls the story of Isadora Duncan . . . Clifford Odets is known as Hollywood's poorest poker player, and maybe that's why he gags it up by attending games in a robe and pajamas . . . The anticipation of the crushing strength of Victor McLaglen's handshake makes you limp and when it happens you're limp with surprise. He's a wet-fish handshaker.

I RECORDED THE DUCK FROM DA JUDGE'S HOUSE. HE WAS GONNA COOK IT FER DINNER, AN' I BLUYS IT OPEN HIM FER $10!
DA JUDGE IS ONE OF THEM GUYS WHO GETS HUNGRY-LOOKIN' AT A STEAM-SHOVEL GOUGIN' UP BIG SCOOPFULS!
I'LL HAVE SOME FUN WITH THIS JUVENILE GIANT!—I'LL TRY MY AMATEUR VENTRILOQUISM AND MAKE HIM THINK THE DUCK CAN TALK!
AND THE EARL WILL GO FOR IT SOLID—2-11

NORMA SHEARER'S collection of leopard-trimmed clothes would fill a small zoo. I don't know where she acquired the affection for it, and somehow it seems strange on the girl who was the gentle Elizabeth Barrett and the soft Maureen Claire of "Smilin' Thru" . . . Hoagy Carmichael is a toothpick carrier but somehow on him it looks good. Even Emily Post wouldn't mind. I'm sure . . . Leo Carrillo speaks Chinese as well as a Chinese (or at any rate he makes it sound that way!) and is an inspired gourmet when he has the opportunity to order Chinese dishes that are both unusual and authentic.

Boston After Dark

MONDAY MUSINGS: Courtney Burr, producer of "Little Brown Jug," is the only contemporary Broadway producer with a Boston social register background . . . The distinguished late Winthrop Ames and the late Henry Savage have passed on . . . Courtney, who, of course, postdates these two, made his debut in the producing field by unveiling a choice but bawdy little opus entitled "Sailor Beware."

IT WAS AN electrifying hit, and broke a two-year theatrical drouth in hits the same week in which "Men In White" and the classic "Of Thee I Sing" had their premieres in a depression-steeped and mournful New York which still had its quota of daily "leapers" (as the hotel trade calls suicides-by-jumping-from-windows).

MR. BURR HAS A BUOYANT disposition which never would have permitted its owner to become a "leaper", but the young boulevardier from Park ave., braving a Broadway which he had admired from a ringside seat as a devotee of the lively arts and friend of stars, producers and ticket-brokers, would have had reason to be desperate had "Sailor Beware" proved other than a smashing success.

He, in fact, was alone among a large company of pessimists—including his cast—in predicting that the now-famous play about Dynamite Jones, the sailor, and Stonewall Jackson, the unyielding American girl of the Panama cabarets, would be a hit . . . Things were so gloomy on the eve of the play's premiere that Courtney was forced to hypothecate a small part of his large inheritance from the Boston banking firm headed by his father, the late George H. Burr, in order to get a necessary $1600 which would tell whether his first curtain ever would ring up.

HARDLY A PERSON except Mr. Burr and possibly the author—this latter type being eternally optimistic—expected "Sailor Beware" to be a hit . . . One feature of that experience had been wrong chronologically . . . Had Producer Burr tried to open his play in Boston before bowing in on a New York stage, he would have had a guaranteed success on his hands before the first curtain . . . But he opened first in New York, and it was more than a year later that "Sailor Beware" became nationally "famous" by being "banned in Boston" . . . Meantime, Courtney had made a few thousand G's.

Courtney has yet to duplicate that first successful effort, but he and John Byram, the Paramount story editor whose divining rod is the best instrument now in Broadway use when it comes to exploring new ground in manuscript form, Ed Choate, the veteran young producer-manager, and actors of the standing of Percy Kilbride, Katherine Alexander and Arthur Margetson, believe that "Little Brown Jug" wil make the grade.

BUT ABOUT THE BURRS and their millions . . . Although he was born in Kansas, Courtney was brought up in Northampton and West Newton . . . His dad was part of a famous downtown Boston banking firm which still enjoys wide respect . . . While young Courtney was enduring adolescence at Newton High and Noble & Greenough and Yale, the family fortune was ballooning because Pappy Burr had financed and exploited a hair brush which had a magnet on the back that had an amazing effect on human hair . . . ("With enough brushing," Courtney recalls, "a person's hair would stand up straight") . . . From that early interest in brushes, the elder Burr came up with something called a "prophylactic tooth brush" (millions followed).

Park ave. since such an address really meant something . . . We were recalling at the Ritz dining room—where the coffee is unbelievably good and an ice which the Ritz owner, Ed Wyner, calls a "Hamilton parfait" with chocolate, is delicious — that a tall, svelte and stage-struck young beauty from New York society had been assistant stage manager of a Burr production, "All Good Americans."

"Remember her — Louise Macy?" Mr. Burr asked . . . And then we did . . . She switched interest from the theater to fashion-designing and writing later . . . Now she is Mrs. Louise Macy Hopkins, widow of the mourned Harry Hopkins . . . Courtney's great friend was the late Bob Benchley . . . Another was Hope Williams, the society girl who was a seasonal sensation on the stage.

"LITTLE BROWN JUG" opens Thursday in Boston . . . A fourth featured member of the cast in Marjorie Lord . . . She is the young wife of John Archer, whom Boston applauded recently for his good miming in "The Day Before Spring" That show, incidentally, is much less a hit in New York than it was here . . . In fact, it is not a hit at all . . . Neither is "January Thaw," for which we are sorry.

MIAMI BEACH, Feb. 11—I do not wish to make invidious cracks about the people who visit the White House and squat in its ornate chairs, but it is a fact that these chairs require constant cleaning.

A cleaning fellow is at work on them practically all the time. And frequently the work piles up so much that outsider chair-scrubbers have to be called in.

The other day, Mrs. Janet Green conceived the idea that the chairs in her apartment could stand a scouring and called a local firm of chair-cleaners. Mrs. Green is very shrewd that way. Whenever she wants a chair cleaned she calls in a chair-cleaner.

This fellow was very weary when he arrived. He explained he had just come from the White House where he had cleaned 55 chairs.

"And there's a lot more to be done too," he added.

The cleaning chap said all the chairs had been cleaned when Mr. Truman moved in but that they weren't long getting soiled. Mrs. Green asked if they looked as if they had been sat on a lot by people from Kansas City, Kansas, and Kansas City, Missouri—the two East-West capitals of the nation—but the fellow said he couldn't distinguish Kansas City seat marks from any others.

MY NOMINATION for best deadpan comedy of the Senate FEPC filibuster.

SENATOR BILBO (the strong, silent man from Mississippi): "I am not going to take up the time of the Senate. What is the laughter about, Mr. President? Sixty days is not very long."

A WHILE BACK I wrote about a new fountain pen which reputedly will write under water and expressed fear—knowing our American tendency to skepticism—that people would be plunging into water over their depths to test it out.

Among those who shared my concern was Mr. Leo E. George, president of the National Federation of Post Office Clerks, who communicated his alarm to Deputy First Assistant Postmaster General Tom Cargill. Mr. Cargill has just replied as follows:

"Dear Leo: Your letter came just in the nick of time. It has prevented a series of events that would have shaken the very foundation of our department.

"As you know, I became the proud possessor of one of those pens. It fascinated me, particularly the water feature, and the urge was so strong I began with the wash basin, only to find the overflow clogged, necessitating the service of a plumber.

"I next tried the kitchen sink but found it unsatisfactory. I got in the bathtub and lay face downward, but, while thrashing about, one foot came in contact with the protruding fixtures, breaking one toe and at the same time turning on the hot shower. In addition to the pain and scalding, in my haste to get out I broke three teeth on the rim of the tub, also knocking large slabs of enamel from it.

"The attending excitement caused a complete nervous collapse of other members of the family. During all this I was calm, only having in mind the furtherance of the experiment I had begun. The bandages and splints should be removed in another three weeks, and I am sure that with eight more wrappings my removable bridge will permit me to talk without hissing.

"I do, but remember we're only playing!"

"IT WAS WHILE convalescing that I had time to plan a visit to Rock Creek, Chesapeake Bay, the Atlantic ocean and the deeps of the Pacific.

"I'll admit that my friend, George Dixon, in his interviews on the subject, developed one possibility that had completely escaped me; that of using the underside of a flounder for correspondence in the absence or shortage of the usual stationery.

"Is my face red, for as you know, for years I've studied ways and means to get people to write and send more letters and now we have a rank feditor's note: hum?) outsider to come in with this flounder.

"The truth of it is we should take it up with the union with a view to suppressing it. Why man, just think, it won't be long before a school with long-haired professors will be training flounders to read maps and make person-to-person deliveries, thereby eliminating post office clerks, carriers and mail cars.

"That means no Post Office Department officials and the old department will simply become a statue.

"As I said in the beginning, your letter came in the nick of time. I am going to use that pen not to pursue the experiment of underwater writing, but devote all my energy to an anti-flounder campaign.

"I have contacted other known possessors of these pens and pointed out the dangers involved. We are working in close harmony."

IN THE BEGINNING I had decided to comment on Mr. Cargill's letter. But whenever you get a masterpiece like that the only sensible thing to do is leave it alone. Mr. Cargill, my humble admiration!

Now, if you want me to come down after work and help lug some mail——

"Who Gets Slapped" Opens at Colonial

The original Theater Guild production of "He Who Gets Slapped," was acclaimed by the late Alexander Woollcott as "alive in its every movement, abrim with color and beauty."

The Guild's new production, opens tonight at the Colonial Theater for two weeks.

Open Sesame

AUSTIN, Minn., Feb. 11 (AP)—Butter worked a miracle for banker George Reppeaved and cafe owner George Kokalaris during a trip to Florida.

When hotel clerks said, "No room," the travelers mentioned 50 pounds of butter they had brought with them, adding, "We might spare a bit."

They got rooms.

Maxwell to Sing Lead in 'Rose Marie'

Arthur Maxwell who will sing the leading role of the Canadian "mountie" in "Rose Marie," opening tonight at the Opera House, is a Texan-born six-footer, who should do pictorial justice to the scarlet-coated uniform of the Canadian Northwest Mounted Police.

He is a graduate in economics of the University of Texas.

"St. Louis Woman" Due at Shubert

Music by Harold Arlen and lyrics by Johnny Mercer are two vital features of "St. Louis Woman," the new musical play which Edward Gross will present at the Shubert Theater a week from tomorrow night.

For those who need a reminder, Arlen and Mercer are responsible for "Accentuate the Positive," "Blues in the Night," "Old Black Magic" and many other songs on your hit parade.

Arlen, composer of the now classic "Stormy Weather," also wrote the score for the current hit, "Bloomer Girl," and for "The Wizard of Oz." Mercer, new on radio's Hit Parade, wrote the lyrics for "The Harvey Girls" as well as for some 300 published songs.

Boston American, Feb. 11—25

Veterans' Friend

By JAMES F. McENANEY

Q—As the widow of a deceased Army officer, am I entitled to trade at an Army commissary? G. S., Boston.

A—Widows of deceased military personnel are not eligible for commissary privileges.

Q—My husband was discharged in November, 1945, and has not received his second or third mustering out payments. Why? E. P., Providence.

A—Non-receipt of the payments may be due to change of address made by him without notification to the Finance Office at the post where he was separated. It is suggested that he write to Finance Officer at the place of separation, giving his full name, Army serial number, date of discharge and present mailing address, and request issuance of the payments due him.

Q—In 1943 at my request I was released from active military service to enter essential industry, and put in the Enlisted Reserve. In 1945 I was honorably discharged from the service. Am I entitled to receive mustering out pay? A. V., Portsmouth, N. H.

A—No, not unless you served overseas or in Alaska.

Q—An error has been made in my discharge certificate. Where can I have it corrected? L. T., Medford.

A—A veteran of World War II who wishes to have errors corrected on his discharge certificate should forward the original certificate by registered mail to Demobilized Personnel Records Branch, ACO, Records Administration Center, 4300 Goodfellow Blvd., St. Louis 20, Mo.

Q—Is Government Insurance retroactive? I'm a soldier's wife and want to know. I. D., Boston.

A—If the writer wishes to know whether a soldier or veteran may convert his National Service Life Life Insurance to the original date he applied for it, the answer is yes. If the inquiry pertains to monthly payments of the insurance to beneficiary of a deceased soldier, such payments are effective from date of death of the soldier or veteran.

Q—Am I entitled to mustering out pay? I received an honorable discharge in 1943, at the age of 44, with the understanding that I would go into essential industry, which I did. W. J. H., Cambridge, Mass.

A—Men over 38 years of age, discharged for the convenience of the government to go into essential industry are not eligible for mustering out pay.

Land Grab Suit Bars Bay State

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11 (AP) —The Supreme Court today denied Massachusetts permission to intervene directly in the government's suit against California over rights to oil in offshore lands..

The Justice Department opposed intervention by Massachusetts on the ground the state has no interest in the bed of the Pacific off California, but said it did not object to Massachusetts appearing in the case as a "friend of the court." Such an appearance, it stated, would avoid "encumbering the record with pleadings, and so forth."

The Supreme Court did not indicate today whether it would permit Massachusetts to enter the case on this basis.

Eyes House Personality

Beauty

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE
Beauty and Fashion Editor

EVERY TIME we feast our gaze on our young son and his long, curled-up lashes out to THERE . . . inwardly we get as mad as a hatter at Mother Nature and her misplaced endowment. For what, pray tell, does a boy . . . or a man . . . need with hedgethick, curly lashes that are as decorative as the surrey with the fringe on top?

But isn't it always the way? The girl of the family . . . who should come by this beauty acquisition rightfully and by heritage . . . has to scrimp along with sparse lashes that give her face the bleak, gaunt look.

Subtle and intriguing lashes . . . opening and shutting the little windows to a gal's heart recesses . . . are comparable to the climax of a mystery novel . . . compelling with suspense and darn smart decoration for any face.

Facial artifices pale into insignificance when there are insinuating lashes to contend with. They open the door to beauty . . . and are an eye-dea that deserves consideration and encouragement. Take any movie star . . . and analyze her facial loveliness. Don't the studio makeup men concentrate . . . but definitely . . . on the eyes . . . for that's where the personality plus expression is housed . . . that's where the emoting is intensified in giving credence to a role . . . in the celluloids as well as in real life.

There's an eyelash grower on the market that is the product of a famous hair specialty company. During the course of their many years in salvaging many an almost lost head . . . they evolved this pomade which . . . logically and naturally . . . should do for the eyelashes what their products do for the hair . . . encourage and stimulate growth and foster nourishment.

Eyelashes continue to drop off at times, as you know. And if new lashes didnt' grow in, eyes would be bald. There is a life span to lashes as to hair. Consequently . . . the purpose of this eyelash pomade is to promote strength and growth at the base . . . so that when the new hair comes in to frame the eyes . . . the lashes will be long, strong and luscious. It is a common-sense principle and not a folderol fantasy. Just use this eyelash pomade every day . . . over your lids, too, as well as on your eye-flutterers . . .

For the name of this eyelash grower, phone the Beauty Dept., LIBerty 4000, or write me, care of the Boston Evening American, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

BAND DEACTIVATED

A friend of mine who was with the 704th A. A. F. Band has not been heard from for some time. Can you tell me where this band is now stationed? E. L. M.

The 704th A. A. F. Band was rendered inactive on Dec. 1, 1945, in Le Havre, France. Whereabouts of its personnel are unknown.

PROVOCATIVE eyes . . . as large as cups and saucers and fringed with flutterers that captivate and enthrall . . . have always been Warner Star Joan Crawford's proudest possessions. Soulful penetrators wouldn't get very far . . . if they weren't framed with hedge-thick lashes that shutter and open at beauty's beckon and call. A noted hair specialty house features an unsual eyelash pomade that really stimulates lashes to grow out to THERE.

She Wonders If She Should Accept This Man's Love

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

I am 19 years old, and I am an unmarried mother with a son seven months old. I've met quite a few young fellows, but since I've had my baby, I don't seem to care to go out and enjoy myself or meet new friends.

I don't love the father of my baby. We don't correspond with each other at all. I promised to marry him once, but when he set the date, I refused, although I liked him.

But now there is a young man who says he loves my baby and me very much. Every time he comes to the house he always plays with the baby. I've known him about five years. He's been in the Army three years. We wrote to each other, but not very often. He took me out once to a movie. He tells my family how much he cares for me. He tells me, too, but I have never told him whether or not I care for him. He gave me a ring, but now sometimes I feel I should return it, and then sometimes I think I won't, but will go through with it.

He's gone back to the service, but expects to be discharged in about a month. Since he went back, I sort of miss him at times, and wish he were around. I know he means it when he says he'd do anything to make me happy, and he also feels the same about my baby. I know I don't love him the way he loves me, and he knows it, too, for he has often told me so. S. E. T.

It seems evident that you are trying to look at this problem clearly and honestly, S. E. T., and that you truly want to make a right and wise decision. I am sure that, as you say, you do look at life differently, and more seriously, than many girls of your age, just because of what you have been through. And for these reasons, I believe that if you did decide to marry this young man, you would do your best to make him happy and to make your marriage a success.

It is not at all surprising that, with the experience you have had, you should be uncertain of your own feelings just now, and a little afraid to take as definite a step as marriage. But this boy seems to have an unusually mature way of looking at life. His wish to make you and the baby happy shows a fine and generous nature, for there are not so many young men who would take that attitude toward the child of another man, under such circumstances. Moreover, he is apparently eager to marry you even though he understands the uncertainty of your feelings for him.

Meal Planning Important Part of Young Bride's Job

By MARTHA LEE, Household Editor

DESPITE INITIAL difficulties, there is no part of a bride's job which is more satisfying or in which progress through practice is more evident than meal planning. The first rule for brides is to avoid too difficult food preparation. Good meals can be made very simple.

Some of the rules to follow are:

Plan simple well-balanced meals.

Learn the convenience and variety possible by using ready-to-eat cereals with different fruits for breakfast.

Plan meals according to preparation and cooking time required.

Read recipes completely before beginning to work.

Set up work-table with the food materials and utensils needed for making the recipe you are using.

Follow recipe exactly and always use accurate measurements.

Have your oven tested.

Cook vegetables only until tender.

Cook mild-flavored vegetables in small amount of boiling, salted water.

Cook strong-flavored vegetables in uncovered pan in large amounts of boiling, salted water.

Eggs and egg combinations, such as custards, should be cooked at low temperatures.

Roasts should be cooked at low temperature to avoid shrinkage and retain juices.

Make plain cake well before attempting the more elaborate types.

Serve fresh or canned fruits to simplify the dessert problem.

THE MOST talked of bathing suit of the Miami season . . . is this Tina Leser corset of pastel striped cotton with boned midriff . . . hooked up the back to give the tiny waist effect. Two bows tie on the chest and peplum. The corset is worn with straight shorts and . . . on occasions . . . covered by a slightly flaring knee-length skirt. The model covers her flowing locks with a white Dache snood net—R. M.

CREAMED TONGUE AND MUSHROOMS

5 tbsp. butter, margerine, or other fat
1 cup sliced mushrooms
1-3 cup flour
2 cups water
2 cups evaporated milk
3 cups cubed tongue, cooked or canned
¾ cup horseradish
½ cup finely chopped parsley

If fresh mushrooms are used, cook in the butter until tender. If canned mushrooms are used, brown lightly in the butter. Stir in flour, then gradually add water and cook until thickened, stirring constantly. Add milk and continue cooking until thickened, stirring constantly. Add tongue, horseradish and parsley and heat piping hot. Serve at once in toast cases. Makes 8 servings.

TOAST CASES

8 Slices bread
2-3 cup evaporated milk

Cut large rounds (about 3½ inches in diameter) from each slice of bread with a sharp biscuit cutter. Cut smaller circles from 16 of the rounds, making 16 rings, 8 large rounds and small rounds, left from the center of the rings. With a pastry brush, lightly coat the top of the 8 large rounds with undiluted evaporated milk. Coat the rings in the same way, and place two rings on top of each round. This completes the structure of the cases. Place the cases and the small remaining rounds from the center of the rings on a baking sheet, and toast in a very hot oven (500 deg. F.) for about 10 minutes, or until they are a medium brown. Fill with creamed tongue and mushrooms and top with the small rounds. Makes 8 cases.

MARMALADE TEA CAKE

2 tbsp. melted butter or margarine
½ cup brown sugar
1½ cups corn flakes
1½ cups sifted flour
3 tsp. baking powder
2 tbsp. sugar
½ tsp. salt
¼ tbsp. shortening
1 egg
¾ cup milk
½ cup orange marmalade

Blend together butter, brown sugar and ¼ cup corn flakes set aside for topping. Sift together flour, baking powder, sugar and salt; cut in shortening. Beat egg; add milk. Add to dry ingredients, stirring only until combined. Add remaining 1 cup corn flakes. Turn into greased 8-inch square pan. Dot marmalade by teaspoons on top of batter; sprinkle with topping. Bake in hot even (400 deg. F.) 25 minutes. Serve warm, cut in squares.

Fancy Sleeves Add Piquancy to Dress

By BETTINA BEDWELL

WHATEVER kind of dress it happens to be in spring styles, you'll find the accent is generally on the sleeves. Even that great American classic, the shirtwaist dress, has gone and gotten itself some new and fancy sleeves this season. You'll see shirtwaist dresses with cape sleeves, with balloon sleeves, with peasant sleeves and such, and they will look new, and good.

A sample of the shirtwaist dress with the accent on the sleeves is sketched. This is a Peggy Thayer model, made from Everfast Sunmere crepe in aqua blue. The important sleeves are covered with crossed bands of fagoting which makes them semi-transparent and more noticeable. The waistline is softened with a drawstring belt.

Yalta

expresses its readiness to conclude with the national government of China a pact of friendship and alliance between the USSR and China in order to render assistance to China with its armed forces for the purpose of liberating China from the Japanese yoke."

"February 11, 1945.

"J. Stalin

"Franklin D. Roosevelt

"Winston S. Churchill"

The text of the agreement was released simultaneously in Washington, London and Moscow.

State Sec. Byrnes, in evident concern that the terms of the Big Three agreement would bring renewed criticism, issued a statement defending the Yalta arrangement.

He called attention to the fact that China was not a party and, therefore, relations between China and the Soviet Union "are in no way controlled by this memorandum, but are governed by provisions of the treaty between China and the Soviet republics, signed at Moscow, Aug. 14, and subsequent agreements.

"The Yalta agreement was based on Russia's entering the war. The Soviet military leaders advised our military leaders that Russia could not enter the war until 90 days after the surrender of Germany; that it would take them that time to move their arms to the Japanese front.

"Had the Japanese learned of the agreement they would have immediately attacked Russia. That would have necessitated the removal of Russian troops from the German front toward Japan at a time when Russia was starting the final drive which brought about the collapse of the German army on that front.

"The removal of Russian troops at that time would have made the task of the American armies more difficult and cost more lives."

Time of the release of the pact on the first anniversary of its signing was done at Russian request.

Wilson Will Continue To Direct at Suffolk

By JACK CONWAY

PALM BEACH, Fla., Feb. 11—Eddie Goode, treasurer of Suffolk Downs and co-receiver with Ed Proctor of the Aldred Investment Trust, told this writer to say it is unlikely that the East Boston racing plant will be sold during 1946.

This means that the receivers of Aldred Investment Trust and President Allan Wilson of Suffolk Downs will direct the 36 and 23-day meetings at the East Boston track.

Allan Wilson

"One is from the group headed by Charles F. Connors, former chairman of the Massachusetts Racing Commission, while the other is from the Sunberg Syndicate.

"I do not believe the plan of a New York and Washington Syndicate to purchase complete control of Aldred Investment Trust for $6,000,000 and thus acquire Suffolk Downs in the bargain will be successful. The bonds of Aldred Investment Trust are held by people in all parts of the United States and it would be difficult for a syndicate to buy them all up.

"I understand Gordon B. Hanlon, former president of the Aldred Investment Trust, recently sold his holdings in the Trust to a New York group for $150,000."

Goode confirmed the statement of this writer that the big advance in the value of the stock of the Gillette Safety Razor Co., during the past year has increased the value of the Aldred Investment Trust by thousands of dollars. There are 59,000 shares of Gillette in Aldred Investment Trust.

Goode stated he had received favorable comment on Allan Wilson's appointment of John Turner as racing secretary of Suffolk Downs. Turner replaces Charles McLennan who was paid $23,000 a year at Suffolk Downs. McLennan resigned his post and is now racing secretary at Hialeah Park. He was recently named racing secretary at Havre de Grace and at the new track at Atlantic City. Turner has been Lou Smith's racing secretary at Rockingham Park and has a high rating in racing.

Eddie Goode has been living at Miami, and has been in frequent attendance at Hialeah Park. He made a trip to Palm Beach in the company of Mr. and Mrs. William Hamilton of Medford to visit friends here.

Atty. Matthew McGrath and Mrs. McGrath of Boston were among the persons Goode met while here. Atty. McGrath at various times has represented prominent racing interests in New England and in New York.

Horse and dog racing continue to set new marks at Florida tracks. Hialeah Park is having its biggest season. Its daily average mutuel handle will run over $1,000,000.

The nightly handles at the West Flagler and Miami Beach dog tracks, only a few miles apart, are each topping $185,000. Hollywood Park, 20 miles away, does $90,000, while the West Palm Beach dog track, 65 miles from Miami, handles $50,000 nightly. Hi-Li, operated in Miami by Dick Berenson of Boston, a graduate of the Dudley School in Roxbury, does $50,000 a night.

These glowing figures, supported by record attendance marks, lead Goode to believe that Suffolk Downs and the other New England tracks will have big [illegible].

"The Suffolk Downs stock is selling around $160 a share," said Goode. "It was acquired by Aldred Investment Trust around $82."

Maryland Board Told Riders Knew Race Fixed

BALTIMORE, Feb. 11 (AP)—Three jockeys told the Maryland Racing Commission in signed statements today that they knew "the fix was on" for a steeplechase at Pimlico last Nov. 30, but they failed to identify the man or men who put up the money.

The signed and witnessed statements were read at a hearing for seven steeplechase riders, a trainer and a jockey's agent who were temporarily suspended on grounds they broke a racing commission rule dealing with "bribery, conspiracy and fraudulent practices."

The race in question was the two-mile Bryndor steeplechase on the last day of Pimlico's fall meeting. It was won by Mamie's Lad at $5.20 for two, with William Owen, the nation's leading steeplechase rider, in the saddle. Gala Reigh, with Francis Passmore up, was second, and meeting House, ridden by Scott Riles, was third.

Verne Haines, Owen and Douglas Banks said in signed statements that they knew the race was "fixed." They said they had been told that $100 had been wagered on Mamie's Lad for them but they didn't know who was putting up the money.

The statements were read by police lieutenant Clarence O. Forrester, who assisted the commission in its investigation. The statements were witnessed by Forrester and police sergeant [illegible] B. Huff and signed by the [illegible] rious jockeys.

Suspended in connection with the race were Jockeys Owen Haines, Banks, Passmore, Riles, Howard Cruz and Sidney O'Neil, Trainer John Barry, and Jockey Agent James F. Byrnes.

Haines and Banks both said that Cruz, who did not ride in the race, told them that "the fix was on" and that $100 had been put up on Mamie's Lad for each of them.

Cruz arrived late at the hearing. Forrester said his statement would be read later in the day.

Owen, who rode the winner, asserted he knew the race was "fixed" but added "I figured Mamie's Lad could win whether it was fixed or not." He said the Gala Reigh, with Passmore up, opened a 50-length lead at one point.

THREE YEARS AGO—The National League's proposed sale of the Philadelphia Phillies to a six-man syndicate struck a snag.

Bruins Skid to Second Rung

By BILL GRIMES

In the wake of their one-sided victory over the Blackhawks in Montreal Saturday, Les Canadiens shut out the Bruins, 2-0, last night at the Garden thereby registering their initial weekend cleanup of the season. The Canucks had it over the Rossmen like a tent despite the fact that their train from Montreal didn't arrive until 8:20. It was 8:57 when they appeared on the ice.

The score fails by a wide margin to tell how much the Bruins were outplayed. In the first period Bill Durnan was called upon to make only three saves, although for two minutes the Frenchmen were a man shy, while Elmer Lach was serving a hooking penalty.

During the time they had a one man advantage, the Rossmen didn't have a single shot on Les Canadiens' goalie. The Rossmen were credited with six shots on Durnan during the second period and with five in the final chapter for a grand total of 14.

While Durnan was enjoying the pastime from the ringside, Frankie Brimsek was busier than in the opening chukker, 17 in the the proverbial one armed paperhanger.

"Mr. Zero" kicked out 12 shots middle bracket and 5 in the final period, for a total of 34 saves, an even 20 more than Durnan.

The Flying Frenchmen played havoc with the NHL standings over the week-end. They knocked off the Bruins and Hawks, who were deadlocked for first place, thereby picking up four points to move into a tie with the Rossmen for second place, a half game behind Chicago, who were tied by Rangers last night in New York.

And, over the week-end, the Maple Leafs gained a full game on the Red Wings, whom they beat in Toronto and tied in Detroit.

The Bruins-Canadiens fussle was a battle royal from the start. Neither clubs asked or gave quarter and most of the players are today carrying souvenirs of the encounter. However, it was the heads up brand of hockey played by the Canucks that was responsible for the first shut out the Rossmen have suffered at home this season. The visitors intercepted, or deflected, practically every pass the Bruins made in the neighborhood of their cage. They gave Durnan grand protection throughout the entire contest.

Coach Dick Irvin is worried over his "Punch Line," "Toe" Blake, Elmer Lach and Maurice Richard. Since the Canucks swamped Rangers, 9 to 2, a month ago, the "Punch Line" has scored but one goal. A year ago, Blake, Lach and Richard scored almost at will, so in self defense, coaches of opposing clubs have sent their most experienced checkers against the "Punch Line" with unexpected success.

Harriman to Head Trotting Body

ALBANY, N. Y., Feb. 11 (AP)—F. Roland Harriman of Arden was reelected director of District 9 of the U. S. Trotting Ass'n yesterday at the annual meeting of New York harness horsemen. His term is for three years.

Braves' Getaway is Billed Wednesday

Baseball's in the air. The Braves flit South Wednesday, the Red Sox next week. And for the first time in years, ball players will be in both Braves and Sox parties, the first Florida junket for the clubs since 1942.

In the Braves' contingent, which leaves South Station at 9 a. m. Wednesday, will be southpaw pitcher Art Johnson of Winchester, infielder Skippy Roberge and catcher Bob Ayotte, both of Lowell.

Johnson was a promising southpaw in pre-war days. Billy Southworth will remember him as the lad who conked Terry Moore at Braves field when Southworth needed Moore in the lineup very much indeed. Johnson's been in the Navy.

Roberge, a ringer in physique for Charlie Gehringer, was a combat GI in the ETO. He's been away a long, long time; hasn't touched a baseball like so many other ball players in the Pacific area. His will be a tough job sticking with the club.

Shortstop-Coach Bill Jurges and Ben Cardoni will hop aboard the train in New York, and Sebastian Sisti swings on in Washington. Southworth thinks highly of infielder Sisti and the Buffalo lad, who played a lot of ball in the service, may win the regular third base post. He's got all kinds of natural ability.

Practice will start at Ft Lauderdale Friday.

The Sox will start trickling down individually this week. Tommy Daly, Tom Dowd, John Orlando—but the two main contingents will depart Feb. 22 and Feb. 23 at 5 p. m., lay over in New York for the night and continue on the next morning.

Manager Joe Cronin, Coach Larry Woodall, Hughey Duffy and Win Green will leave Washington's Birthday with Royal Rooter Jimmy Ferretti.

The main party will leave one week from Saturday with Eddie Doherty in charge. In this group will be five ball players. Pete Fox, Johnny Pesky, Ty La Forest, Eddie Pellagrini and Ken Chapman. They'll be joined in New York by Mickey Harris, Frankie Pytlak, George Woods and Tommy Carey, by Hal Wagner and Charlie Wagner in Philadelphia, by Ben Steiner in Trenton, N. J., and by Randy Heflin in Richmond, Va.

Persistent reports that Johnny Pesky is a holdout brought this response from the Sox shortstop today: "Holdout? Where did that story start? No, I haven't signed yet, but I haven't had any differences with the management. There's no rush about signing, but I'll probably drop around this week and affix my signature. I want to play ball, to win a pennant and earn a few bucks. I didn't get rich in the Navy, you know." . . . The Sox will have far more trouble signing Doerr than Pesky. The all-star second baseman loves his Oregon woods and frankly admits he's in the game for what he can get out of it. And after the '44 season he enjoyed, he can get a lot out of it.

Local Experts Enter Foley Memorial Race

By "TAP" GOODENOUGH

Since the Walter Foley Memorial Ski Race is being held on the Mittersill Slope, at Franconia, N. H., next Saturday and Sunday, it is only natural that a strong contingent of recreational skiers from this world-renowned schuss center has entered the competition, seeking to uphold the tradition already established there by such skiing satellites as Sel Hannah, Roger Peabody, Johnny Chapman, Bertram Herbert, Sig Buchmayr, Hans Thorner, Peter Gabriel, and a host of others. .

We have recently listed some of the entrants from Franconia; here are more: Lois, Norman, "Buzz" and Rudolph Nelson; Jack Armstrong, Jack Kenney, Bob Allard, "Mitty" Chapman, Elizabeth Booth, Harry Carpenter and son, Billy; David Horne, James Waters, Deane Horne, Ernest Lewis, Donald Straw, Wyman Keen, Paulie Hannah and Donald Malven.

Although this group dwell under the shadow of Cannon Mountain, most of them do not get any more skiing than the average weekender, so you city schussers will have an equal chance of winning one of the 12 prizes.

This writer will head for Franconia early in the week to help tie up numerous loose ends and details involved in running the two slaloms. There may be two runs in both the men's and women's races, depending on the size of the fields . . . Send your entries to Bernard Herbert, director, Mittersill Ski Area, Franconia, N. H. . . . Entries will also be accepted at the slope until noon of each day.

SKI SCRIBBLINGS: Next big events taking place at Franconia after the Foley Memorial are the National Slalom, Downhill, and Combined Championships, plus the Hochgebirge and Veterans' races, set for March 2 and 3, on the testing Taft Trail. The course will be open for practice runs until race day, except for reconditioning periods.

First entry in the men's amateur division came from Capt. Vic Constant, West Point coach, who recently won the Mass. Downhill Championship on Mt. Greylock . . . Another entry blank has been received from William F. Shaw, of Providence, R. I., who will wear the colors of the Franconia Ski Club.

BAA Dash Row Echoes Linger

By HUCK FINNEGAN

Ben Levias will stage the N. E. senior track and field championships at the "Y" Wednesday night, and Lt. Ralph Colson will follow with the N. E. military championships at the Fargo Building Saturday. But long after the echoes of these promotions have died away will linger the reverberations from the 50-yard dash at the 57th annual BAA games.

It had been announced during the week that newcomer Lew Jester would be the starter (Steve Patten, 1945 starter, had wisely declined the job); that the BAA was going to enforce the AAU starting rule for the first time; that is, two false starts by any sprinter would disqualify him.

Jester had his troubles, as anticipated. Came the final at long last, Thompson and Ewell made two false starts, and Jester said, "You're out," like a Bill Summers.

How the spectators rode the young Tech grad! "Get a starter out there," they yelled. And Dessie Wadsworth, playing to the grandstand, overruled Jester and told Thompson and Ewell to get back on their marks. More confusion and hub-bub! Now the sprinters got on Jester, and "broke" repeatedly. The final had to be postponed half an hour.

Who was at fault? Nobody but Wadsworth. Chairman of the games committee, he was the man who insisted the rule be enforced. And the sprinters were warned beforehand that it would be enforced.

So Starter Jester, working his first major meet, was made to look like a chump before 13,000 spectators.

"I'd have taken that gun and handed it to Wadsworth if I had been in Jester's shoes," said one official, incensed at Wadsworth. "Those sprinters can make the best of starters look bad. And they delight in doing it. But if you crack down on them, they don't take so many liberties. Now what chance did Jester have of using the whip when his superior overruled him?"

Too bad Jester wasn't on hand a few years back when a certain professor said to a local college football coach: "I don't want you to use 'A' and 'B' in the next two games because they're capable of getting higher marks than they're getting."

"Are they passing?" asked the coach. Yes, they were. "Well then, you take hte whistle and run the team," said the coach walking off the field. He came back, but the professor didn't.

Imagine the furore that would ensue if Asa Bushnell over-ruled his officials during a college football game. Or the farce baseball would become if Tommy Connolly reversed decisions made by Cal Hubbard & Co.

Mr. Wadsworth should take a deep bow for that boner and keep backing right out of the picture. Meanwhile I wonder if Steve Patten is sorry he didn't take the starter's job.

BAA SPOTLIGHTS . . . Pete Harwood deserves a lot of credit for his 13-foot vault because there are no pole vault facilities at Harvard . . . Ernie Mills put Northeastern's relay over. He's one of the finest runners in collegiate ranks . . . Frank Cassidy's 1:58 leg for Tufts availed little in the two-mile relay. The Jumbos were too far behind

Priest Go Tops Garden Program

Red Priest meets Joey Blackwood tonight in the main event of a Goodwin Club fight show at the Garden. Blackwood decisioned Priest recently when the latter resumed boxing after being discharged from service.

Blackwood is a hard hitter and he is expected to give Priest, who is in the best condition of his career, a tough battle.

Three other ten-round bouts complete the program.

Garvey Young will battle Ralph Zanelli of Providence, in the second 10, also a return bout Zanelli won the first fight.

Johnny Pretzie of Boston will collide with Jay D. Turner of Dallas, Tex., for the second time, in another ten. The tall Texan put Pretzie away in the final round with just four seconds remaining. Pretzie is out to reverse the charges.

The opening ten will pair Howard Thompson of Saugus with Big Boy Baker of Everett. Both are huskies who top the 200 mark.

IMPORTANT FACTS FOR SINUS SUFFERERS

In New England, about one out of five have a "germ" disease referred to as Sinus Trouble!

Nine out of ten so affected believe that because of absence of pain, it is merely Catarrh and needs no relief.

More bodily ailments can be traced to Sinus Trouble than to any other single malady.

Doctors claim that over 50% of Arthritis is caused by Sinus Trouble. The lining of the heart may become involved. The kidneys may be attacked. Deafness and middle ear infection are common, necessitating mastoid operations. Moreover, there is apt to be a general debility with a lack of vital energy, in addition to frequent head colds.

REMOVE THE CAUSE AND YOU REMOVE THE TROUBLE. We have records to prove that this can be done!

Treatments can be taken without discomfort, are moderately priced, and administered under a doctor's direction.

Placid Bids for Bobsled Meet

LAKE PLACID, N. Y., Feb. 11 (AP)—The north country's thunder-riders are hurtling their big bobsleds down the ice-plated Mt. Van Hoevenberg speed groove again, peering through the snow spray at an Olympic rainbow.

This Adirondack mountain resort, scene of America's 1932 winter Olympic triumph, already has invited the 1948 games.

With Los Angeles, Philadelphia and Cleveland bidding strongly for the summer games, Lake Placid is hopeful the nations will return here for the snow strife.

Whether they compete here or at St. Moritz in the Swiss Alps, north country sledmen are honing their speed. Their ambition: To repeat the U. S. sweep in four and two-man competition.

School Basketball, Hockey Near End

By MIKE GILLOOLY

Schoolboy track has had its one big day at the Boston Garden; basketball will have its final fling on the boards of the North Station floor Thursday afternoon and hockey will follow suit as the Greater Boston circuit winds up its play-offs with another set of important tussles Saturday afternoon.

It'll be another big week in the school ranks with basketball championships to be virtually decided as well as the three hockey crowns as the boys move into their regular February vacation time.

Action in the hockey world will open tomorrow afternoon at the Garden with the Boston schoolboys moving another step forward along their schedules. This program, originally scheduled for today, will match English vs. Boston Tech; Dorchester vs. Latin and Commerce vs. Roxbury Memorial. At the same time, the District schools will be pitting South Boston against East Boston; Roslindale against Brighton; Charlestown against Brandeis and Hyde Park against Jamaica.

Saturday's hockey will follow its regular pattern. The GBI will be at the Garden; the Bay State will take over the Arena in the afternoon; the Eastern Mass. moves in at night and the Catholic loop will continue at the Skating Club. Interest will center on the clash between Rindge Tech and Newton, with the Technicians now holding an option on the senior circuit title.

Track in the Boston ranks will be given over to novice meets at the Armory with a relay carnival scheduled for Wednesday and to the open meet at the Navy's Fargo building Saturday afternoon. Capt. A. M. Van Eaton, with the assistance of Lt. Com. Ralph Colson, have invited schoolboys to compete in the 60-yard dash; 440, 880 and mile runs. There'll also be a 60-yard dash for junior high schools.

Basketball's farewell to the Garden, before the opening of tournament play, might bring out the champion of the intown ranks in the opening game, South Boston vs. Boston Tech. Other contests on Bill Mokray's program match Winthrop against Revere and Lexington against Franklin.

Left-over from the State Meet . . . Boston schoolboys certainly showed the value of their meets at the Armory when they captured three places in the 45-yard hurdles . . . Conrad Balfour set the pace by a slim margin with Dave Gilbert of Latin in second place and Harold Thompson of Trade third . . . English never had a chance after Newton's imposing score in the field events.

Incidentally, Bob Farrell of English took over individual honors for the afternoon . . . his sensational burst of speed as anchor man in the relay against Newton had the fans roaring . . . the Blue and Blue crack 300-yarder picked up 20 yards as he paced his team to victory . . . and don't forget the nifty performance of Brandeis' Dave Neville in the B-300 . . . their pairing later in the Reggies will be well worth watching.

Dartmouth Host to Eagles Hockey Team

Boston College tangles with the high-flying Dartmouth Indians in a hockey game to be played at Hanover, N. H., tonight. This will be the second game for the Eagles, victors over Holy Cross in their opener last week, while Dartmouth has been winning consistently all winter, losing only to Yale and McGill.

O'Rourke Shines In Charity Tilt

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 11 (INS)—The mechanical toe of Lou Zontini, former Notre Dame star, accounted for two extra points to give the All Service All-Stars a 14 to 13 victory over Kenny Washington's professional All-Stars in a charity football game yesterday.

A million dollars worth of football talent performed before a crowd of 28,000 in Memorial Coliseum in a contest that was billed as the windup of the 1945 season and the 1946 lid-lifter.

Passes accounted for all touchdowns.

Charlie O'Rourke, former Boston College flash, engineered the service team scoring spree, heaving two payoff aerials.

In the second period he flipped to Buddy Young, Illinois freshman speedburner, who raced 50 yards to score. The other service team touchdown came in the third quarter when O'Rourke threw 47 yards to Steve Juzwich, former Notre Dame ace, who scored standing up.
